During Boy Scout Banquet

2 Receive 'Silver Beaver'

HONORED. Dean Senanefes, left, of Lisbon and Lou Landfried of East Liverpool, center, were presented the coveted Silver Beaver award during Thursday night's Boy Scout banquet at Columbiana. The presentations were made by Donald Theiss of Chester, right, chairman of the Beaver Court of Honor.

COLUMBIANA — Columbiana Council, Boy Scouts of America, presented the Silver Beaver award Thursday night to Lou Landfried of 414 Elizabeth St., East Liverpool, and Dean Senanefes of 579 E. Washington St., Lisbon.

The Silver Beaver is the highest honor a local council can confer on a volunteer scouter.

Approximately 300 attended the annual banquet at South Side School here. More than 70 other awards were presented.

Both recepients of the Silver Beaver began scouting as members of Lisbon Troop 92 and had the same scoutmaster, Charles Roessler of E. Lincoln Way, Lisbon. Landfried earned the Star rank and Senanefes the Eagle rank as Scouts.

Landfried had the honor last night of presenting the commissioner's key to ex-scoutmaster Roessler. Senanefes is scoutmaster of Troop 92.

Landfried, a bar finishing department foreman at the Midland Steel Division of Colt Industries, is training chairman for the Cherokee District — the southern half of Columbiana County plus Chester and Newell —and last weekend assisted in the junior leader training program at Camp McKinley.

A former scoutmaster of East Liverpool Troop 41, he will be scoutmaster of one of council's troops making the Philmont trek in New Mexico this summer. He is a member of the Order of the Arrow, holds the scouters' training key and previously received the district award. He and his wife, the former Mary Seevers of East Liverpool, have two children.

Senanefes is an inspector at the NRM Corp., Columbiana; past president of the Lisbon Lions Club, a volunteer fireman, first - aid instructor and a member of the Greek Orthodox Church in Youngstown.

Besides the coveted Beaver, Senanefes last night received a veteran's award for 25 years in scouting.

Education-Tax Plan Dropped By Kurfess

Duplicates Move Made By Rhodes

Says $110 Million In 'Unanticipated' Revenue Is Found

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess has officially backed away from the administration's education-tax package with the announcement of "no new taxes" to finance education in the state over the next two years.

Gov. James A. Rhodes made the same move a week ago, abandoning the taxes in the administration proposal introduced just two weeks ago because of public reaction.

"We're cooling it," Rhodes said then.

Kurfess, R-4 Perrysburg, told a news conference Thursday that he felt high priority education items and an expansion of vocational - technical education would not have to be abandoned.

He has said all along that he did not feel it would be necessary to adopt new state taxes for education programs.

Kurfess explained that the House Republican leadership has found roughly $110 million in unanticipated state revenue over the next two years.

He explained that on Feb. 28 the legislative auditor began reviewing general fund balances and last week informed the House leadership that about $75 million will accrue from year end balances over the next two years.

The Speaker also said there will be an additional $35 million available from "markups" in liquor prices.

Under a law passed last session, there can be up to a 35 per cent markup on liquor. At present, the state has a 30 per cent markup.

State Finance Director Howard L. Collier later said the estimated additional amounts of revenue announced by Kurfess "are realistic."

Collier said the freeze on new state employment instituted two months ago and additional austerity measures should provide nearly a $30 million surplus in the general fund at the end of this fiscal year.

Of this surplus, about $5 million a year would remain in the general fund to serve as a cushion against unforeseen economic conditions.

He also said recent revisions in estimated revenue from the sales and use tax should pro-

Mother, 4 Girls Trapped

Family Flees District Fire

BLAZE SCENE. Only the exterior walls remain of a barn-apartment north of Wellsville where Mr. and Mrs. William Jobe and their four daughters escaped a roaring fire early this morning.

Four children and their mother nearly lost their lives early today in a fire which swept a barn-apartment complex about four miles northwest of Wellsville.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jobe and daughters Robin, 12; Billie Jean, 9; Lisa, 8, and Tracy, 2, jumped from the flaming building.

Jobe, 32, said he was lying on a downstairs couch relaxing, because he was due to leave for work at about 3 a.m. when he smelled smoke. He said he started upstairs but found his way blocked by flames.

He then ran outside and shouted to his wife, finally waking her. Mrs. Jobe dropped the four girls from a window for her husband to catch. She then jumped to the ground—a distance of about 15 feet.

FIREMEN said the five just barely escaped with their lives.

The structure is located at the farm of Robert Kountz along Leatherberry Rd. a short distance from Route 39.

Kountz could not give an estimate of the loss. However, he said it cost $21,000 to build the barn in 1949 and he had completely remodeled the apartment which was partially furnished.

A fairly new truck belonging to Grandville DeBarr was parked in the barn. Many pieces of machinery and equipment were destroyed.

Kountz said there were no animals lost, and there was very little hay in the barn.

He said there was some insurance, but not enough to cover the loss.

Wellsville and Highlandtown volunteer fire departments sent two trucks, and more than 30 firemen fought the blaze.

Fire Chief Robert Lewis of Wellsville said the department received the call at 12:56 a.m. Highlandtown firemen said they received the call about that time, and before they left the station they could see the flames.

Urges Coalition Regime Be Formed

Premier Of Lebanon Quits Over Arab Guerrilla Issue

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Premier Rashid Karami met today with President Charles Helou and told newsmen afterward Helou had accepted his resignation. He hedged when asked if the president would ask him to form a new Cabinet but he urged that a coalition government be formed.

Karami resigned Thursday night after four months in office, saying the country was split over whether Lebanon should become a base for Arab guerrilla action against Israel.

Karami was asked after his visit to Helou if the president would tap him again. He replied:

"The question (of the guerrillas) is now more important than personalities. It concerns the future and fate of the entire country. There must be cooperation between all persons."

With the country tense after two days of rioting in which 16 persons have been killed and nearly 100 wounded, Karami told a special session of Parliament that some persons advised him to give unqualified support to the Palestinian guerrillas. He said others warned such support would provoke Israeli reprisals.

The rioters were mostly Palestinian refugees demanding that the government give full support to the Arab guerrilla organizations which have been raiding Israel. Karami said he had tried to help the guerrillas without endangering Lebanon's security. Despite pressure from the 160,000 refugees in the country, the government generally has tried to avoid involvement in the Arab-Israeli fighting.

The crisis threatened to cause a major split between Lebanon's Moslem and Christian communities, which are roughly equal in size and divided the posts of political leadership according to a detailed formula.

Karami, a 47-year-old Moslem, was serving his eighth term as premier. He took over in January from Abdullah Yafi, who resigned under the storm of protest that followed Israel's attack on the Beirut airport. That attack was made in retaliation for an attack on an Israeli airliner in Athens by Arab commandos who Israel said were based in Lebanon. Since then the government has kept a close watch on the Lebanese-Israeli border and refused to let its territory be used as a base for commando attacks.

Beirut and other major cities were under curfew, and the 15,000-man army patrolled the streets and refugee camps.

Police said 120 persons were under arrest after the riots, and

Mao Remains Party's Head In Red China

TOKYO (AP) — The Chinese Communist party's ninth congress has ended in Peking with no surprises.

Mao Tse-tung continues to reign as party chairman, and his chosen successor, Defense Minister Lin Piao, is still vice chairman with the added designation of Mao's heir.

Some details of the 24-day meeting were broadcast by Radio Peking and the official New China News Agency after the close of the congress Thursday.

It was the first congress since 1956 and lasted about twice as long as the last one. Most of the time apparently was spent reshaping the top echelons of the party, many of whose leaders were purged during the so-called cultural revolution Mao launched in 1966.

Of the 97 members and 99 alternates elected to the party's ruling Central Committee at the 1956 congress, only a handful survived the purge in which President Liu Shao-chi and other "counterrevolutionary revisionists" were ousted.

The ninth congress replaced the old committee with an expanded body studded with military leaders, old and young revolutionaries, and "Proletarian fights."

New York College Remains Closed

Colgate Faculty Building Seized By Negro Students

By The Associated Press

Negro students took over a faculty club building before dawn today at Colgate University. In New York, City College remained closed for most of its 20,000 undergraduates.

Hampton Institute in Virginia was closed "for an indefinite period" by trustees Thursday, as more than a dozen campuses were hit by protests centering on racial and military issues.

About 40 members of the Association of Black Collegians entered the Colgate faculty club building at 4 a.m., the school in Hamilton, N.Y., said. They evicted a cook, her husband and at least two other persons.

Cites Dissatisfaction

A Colgate spokesman said the takeover resulted from dissatisfaction among the Negro students with what they termed administration progress toward setting up a black cultural center on campus.

At City College of New York, Dr. Buell G. Gallagher, the president, set another meeting today with Negro and Puerto Rican students who have barred whites from half the campus.

Gallagher opened negotiations at his campus home—inside the barricades—on Thursday with leaders of the 200 students. No progress was reported.

CCNY's School of Engineering held informal classes today on the unoccupied part of the campus, the first gatherings since Gallagher closed the school—the nation's largest tuition-free school — Tuesday afternoon.

Meanwhile, about 50 white radicals continued their sit-in in Klapper Hall, home of the school of education. A fistfight broke out when 20 conservative students tried to storm the building, but police broke up the fight.

The white students support minority group demands for formation of a separate school of black and Hispanic studies and a new admissions policy to reflect the ethnic makeup of New York's high schools, which are about 40 per cent black and Puerto Rican.

City College has about 4,500 minority-group students among its 20,000 undergraduates. Two-

Grand Jurors Will Be Given Peters Case

LISBON — The morals charge against Arthur Peters, 29, suspended East Liverpool patrolman, will be considered by the Columbiana County Grand Jury.

Judge Louis Tobin of Juvenile Court referred the case to the Grand Jury Thursday afternoon. The April Grand Jury reported April 17. Unless it is recalled, the charge against Peters will go to the September Grand Jury.

Peters had served 10 months of a one-year probationary period when he was suspended March 26 after being charged in Juvenile Court with having sexual intercourse with a minor girl.

Since the girl, now 16, was only 15 at the time of the alleged offense March 6, the case

Sunday Referendum Threatens Him

De Gaulle Hopes New Plea Turns Tide In His Favor

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle makes another radio-television appeal tonight in hopes of reversing the tide of public opinion threatening him with defeat in Sunday's constitutional referendum.

"Advantage to the No's," said the headline on the report of one opinion poll. "Sounding Shows No's in the Lead," said another.

It was the first time since De Gaulle became president in 1958 that pre-election polls indicated he would lose. The unfavorable indicators included two taken by traditional Gaullist optimists—the government and the conservative newspaper Le Figaro. Figaro gave the opposition 53 per cent but said 34 per cent of the voters were still undecided. De Gaulle's task was to counteract the apathy widespread among that group and bring the unconcerned or undecided out to vote for him.

The official issue in the referendum is establishment of regional governments and removal of what little power the national senate has left. But the 78-year-old general made the vote into another plebiscite on his rule by saying he would quit if the referendum proposals were voted down.

400 Flee Explosions, Fire As Train Wrecks

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — A train wreck, explosions and fire sent about 400 residents fleeing from the community of East Germantown, 8 miles west of Richmond, today.

No injuries were reported immediately.

Sixty-two cars of the 110-car Penn Central freight train stacked up in three separate piles over almost three miles of tracks.

A railroad spokesman said 39 of the cars caught fire.

1 Killed, 11 Injured In 40-Car Chain Crash

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A chain collision of some 40 automobiles on fog-bound Interstate 64 in suburban Institute killed one man and injured 11 persons today.

Ronald E. Morrison, about 45, of nearby Nitro, was killed.

Ten persons were taken to Thomas Memorial Hospital in South Charleston where a spokesman said two were listed in serious condition. An injured man walked into Charleston General Hospital for treatment of minor cuts and bruises.

Would Eliminate 10-Year Period

Sen. Maloney Bill Hits At Delinquent Taxpayers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Michael J. Maloney is attempting to do something about people who do not pay their taxes on time.

Maloney, Cincinnati, Republican and chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee, says "the time has come to crack down on tax delinquences, which are causing higher rates and short - changing the conscientious citizen who pays his taxes on time."

On Thursday, Maloney and Sen. Ralph S. Regula, R - 29 Navarre, sponsored a bill to eliminate from present law a provision allowing taxpayers to pay off delinquenies over a 10 year period.

The sponsors said the provision "serves as a dodge for many" who have no intention of paying the taxes.

The two said if the bill passed, tax rates would be reduced in the long run.

The bill "would stop spiraling delinquency in tax payments that has increased more than 88 per cent to $78,910,391 in the last 11 years and has resulted in responsible taxpayers being penalized for the delinquency of others," Maloney said.

The sponsors said that the 1967 delinquency in real estate, personal property taxes and special assessments totaled about $8 million more than was distributed to local governments.

In other action, the Senate passed two bills to reduce the number of hours worked by policemen and firemen in Ohio cities.

The bill to reduce the statuatory work week for policemen from 48 to 40 hours was adopted 22-6 vote and the bill to reduce the maximum hours firemen can be on duty from 114 to 96 was adopted 22-6.

Both bills now go to the House.

The bills' sponsor, Sen. Harry L. Armstrong, R - 17 Logan, said policemen and firemen from the smaller cities in his district have gone into private industry "not because of their pay, but because of the long hours they work."

The House passed, after 75 minutes of debate, a bill to permit Ohio to join a compact with other states in setting qualifications for teachers. The vote was 64-13.

The same bill was defeated last week by one vote, but was put back on the House Calendar under a rule allowing a legislator who voted on the prevailing side to ask for another vote.

The House sent to the governfor his signature a Senate-passed bill requiring tuberculosis tests for school children. The vote was 77-2.

In the Senate, a bill was introduced to scrap the top priority status of a new legislative office building proposals.

It was introduced by Senate majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Piqua, Senate Minority Leader Charles J. Carney, D - 33 Youngstown, and Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Northfield.

Sponsors said the idea is to get work started on a new state office building for the Ohio Supreme Court and the attorney general's offie, now housed in the Statehouse Annex just east of the Capitol Building.

Sens. Robert J. Corts, R - 13 Elyria, and Howard C. Cook, R-1 Toledo, introduced a bill to create the Ohio Highway and Highway Transportation Research Center.

The center would be constructed with funds provided in the $759 million bond issue which voters approved last November.

Suicide 2nd Greatest Cause Of Death For College Youths

CHICAGO (AP) — Suicide is the second greatest cause of death among college students and the third greatest among youths of high school-age, a Harvard psychiatrist reported today.

Dr. Matthew Ross, an associate professor of psychiatry at Harvard's medical school, said only automobile accidents take the lives of more college students than suicides.

Among youths 15 to 19 years old, auto accidents and cancer are ahead of suicide. And in both groups, Dr. Ross said, the number of suicides has been rising.

Dr. Ross set forth these findings in a paper prepared for the 50th annual session of the American College of Physicians.

"Adolescents of college age are the highest potential suicide risk within the population," he said.

Dr. Ross reported that in 1966 nearly 100,000 college students threatened suicide, one in 10 of these actually tried it and 1,000 succeeded.

The suicide rate for college students is 50 per cent higher than for Americans in general of a comparable age, Dr. Ross said.

"Suicide is recognizable, predictable and preventable," he said.

A feature often found in the background of adolescents who attempted suicide, Dr. Ross said, was "some kind of social isolation, most often a disorganized home or a breakdown of family structure."

Studies also have shown, he said, that "other socially isolating situations for the child arose from a sense of parental rejection, a disruption of a romantic involvement with a boy friend or girl friend, frequent residential shifts, and behavioral conflict with parents."

Everyone has a psychological need to be loved, Dr. Ross said, and running through the lives of suicide-prone youngsters is the feeling of a loss of love or being unloved.

In studying attempted or threatened suicide by children and adolescents, Dr. Ross found the precipitating event for 76 per cent was parental loss or separation or a household move just before the suicidal act.

"Because adolescents are impulsive," Dr. Ross added, "we must take them seriously when they express suicidal intention in any form."

Kiwanians View Film On Aviation

The speed and convenience of private airplane travel was outlined by Joseph Coons for the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

Coons, holder of a pilot license, narrated a 25-minute film depicting four flights — a businessman, a family, a housewife and a student — in everyday travels.

He referred to flying procedures, airport accommodations, insurance coverage and other aspects of operating a private plane.

Leo Lawrence, chairman of the Citizens Committee supporting passage of two city school levy renewals in the May 6 primary, stressed the need for the school funds to maintain the present education levels. He emphasized the issues represent no increases in taxes and are vital to financing school operations and for continuing to obtain state finances.

Carol Winds Up The Season

"We'll shoot the dress rehearsal with all kinds of crazy things going on behind Harvey," said Joe Hamilton, "and then when we shoot the show — nothing. We'll let him sing it straight."

Cecil Smith

"He'll go crazy," said Carol Burnett "which will we show?"

"Whichever is funniest," said Joe.

Carol chortled and clapped her hands in glee and beamed on her handsome, white-haired producer-husband.

WE'RE IN A big third-floor rehearsal hall at CBS and half-a-hundred performers and writers and crew members and others involved in Carol's weekly show are spread across the huge room — some playing cards for pennies, others munching sandwiches, singers limbering their throats around the rehearsal piano, magnificently assembled long-legged dancers in brief rehearsal clothes stretching their handsome bodies over big, red hoppity-hop balls.

"This is the last show of the season," said Carol, "which is always the family show. No guest stars. Just Harvey and Lyle and Vikki and our gang. Everybody does his own thing.

"Harvey's going to sing 'They Call the Wind Maria.' That's where the fun will come in. For one take, we're going to do all kinds of silly things behind him. For the next, when he expects it, we're going to do nothing."

HARVEY is, of course, Harvey Korman, Carol's superb second banana. He wanders over, tall, moon-faced, slimmer than on the screen.

"How's the voice?" asks Carol, straight-faced. "Splendid," says Harvey. He cuts loose with a couple of baritone blasts. "Last show of the season," he murmurs. "Where has the year gone?"

They were assembled for a run-through of "Family Show," which takes the air Monday night.

Cast and crew took places in long lines of folding metal chairs. Hamilton was perched on a high canvas seat, Charlie Pettijohn, the CBS censor, in another beside him. Charlie is a big, rugged-faced man, very agreeable, who does his work diligently but doesn't always agree with what he does ("Tom Smothers is right, you know; we're ages behind the times").

"THIS," whispered Joe, "is a very rough version of the finished show."

I saw nothing rough about it, though performers went through their turns amid catcalls from their cohorts.

Ernie Flatt's splendid corps of dancers whirled through a wild number called "Versatility," ranging from rock to ballet, some of them bouncing across the floor on the hoppity-hops, others bounding on a new kid gadget strapped to the feet called Kangaroo Shoes.

Vikki Lawrence and Lyle Waggoner sang solos, and Carol with dancers and chorus did a number she first performed on her special with Bob Preston about a gawky girl who as a child was always "Nelson" and wanted to be "Jeanette."

ALL SEASON, in her opening monolog, Carol has introduced Ernie Anderson at each show, whether or not he was there. It's developed into a running gag.

Now for the "Family Show" she brought Ernie onstage in a funny turn where he's the "comedian's comedian" and everything he says, no matter how flat or dull, sends the cast into hysterics. The Burnett show will offer six reruns and then be replaced for the summer by a variety show starring Jimmy Rodgers. But Carol and crew will continue working, taping three shows for next season before heading for vacation.

LTV Chairman Challenges U.S. To Speed Antitrust Suit

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Charging that the government is suffering from "anti-conglomoerate mania", the chairman of Ling-Temco-Vought Inc. has challenged the justice department to speed up its antitrust suit against the company.

The justice department is trying to block LTV takeover of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. The Texas-based conglomoerate bought controlling shares of the steel firm for $425 million.

In Pittsburgh for a J&L shareholders meeting, James Ling said he thinks his company will win the antitrust suit and he wants to speed the action so LTV can continue its growth.

"We cannot help but believe that it (the Justice Department) is morally and ethically wrong to perform this legal vivisection experiment," Ling told members of a journalism fraternity Thursday night.

"We also believe — and the great majority of the antitrust section of the American Bar Association agrees with us — that the suit is based on charges that are not violations of the existing legislation," he said.

Ling said LTV's interest in the steel — industry was diversification. He called "simple-minded" an idea that J&L was aquired to be liquidated to provide capital for other interests.

"Perhaps there have been a few instances of companies acquired so their assets can be liquidated," Ling said. "But if LTV wanted money that badly it would have been a damned sight simpler for us to have kept our $425 million and not become embroiled in the problems of the steel industry and the present difficulties growing out of our entry into it."

At the stockholders meeting, where Ling sat silently for two hours on the advise of lawyers, the president of J&L described 1968 as "a most extraordinary one in our 116-year history." W. L. Stephens also said he foresaw favorable factors for 1969.

Appalachian Group Okays Federal Grant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Appalachian Regional Commission has approved a $166,251 federal grant for land stabilization and erosion control practices in Guernsey, Jackson, Morgan, Muskingum and Pike counties.

Albert Giles, director of the Ohio Department of Urban Affairs, said funds will be used on a cost - sharing basis with farmers to stimulate the economy of the area by hastening the adoption of all conservation measures needed to make farm units profitable.

The board reported that a final report would be issued in the "not too distant future."

Pennsylvania School Unit Restates Scholarship Stand

HARRISBURG (AP) — Responding to criticism, the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency has restated its policy of withholding scholarship grants from persons charged with serious crimes.

John D. Killian, legal counsel for the PHEAA, Thursday outlined the policy for members of the ageny's governing board, who listened without comment and proceeded to other business. No board action was taken.

Killian said the policy was not new and that recent criticism apparently was prompted by an announcement that the State Police would report to the agency the arrest of college students who might be receiving scholarships.

Both the Pennsylvania American Civil Liberties Union and House Democratic Leader K. Leroy Irvis had voiced objections to the policy on grounds that a student's scholarship should not be taken away prior to conviction.

Killian said no student would be "denied an award until he is convicted and his appeal, if any, has been terminated," but that the agency felt suspension of funds was justified whenever charges were pending.

The Harrisburg attorney went on to say that the PHEAA had an appeals committee which was empowered to recommend making exceptions in certain cases, depending on the circumstances.

Killian noted thatt he committee had recommended an award be made in the case of an individual who was convicted of a felony 10 years ago but "whose conduct since has been exemplary."

The ACLU said it objected to "any regulations or legislation which imposed standards for removal of aid which are not considered serious enough by the college to warrant dismissal."

Irvis said he opposed penalizing a student before the student is proved guilty.

An Opportunity AT KSU

The Kent State University KSU student refing guidance are cast as villians.
erendum turned out to be a vote in favor of restoration of normalcy on the campus.

While the student election was bereft of official status and less than half the KSU population participated, it did serve as a sounding of campus thinking.

Balloting was favorable toward the administration's position on campus violence and rejected reinstatement of the KSU chapter of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS).

Students voiced opposition to the immediate-suspension policy of the university by voting to return to the student conduct code of November 1968 which authorized a hearing before a suspension was handed out.

President Robert I. White explained that the immediate-suspension policy was adopted because the university is required by state law to maintain order.

He agreed there would be less confusion if the student code was amended to make the point clear and said the Student Conduct Committee will be asked to take up the matter.

Too much could be read into the referendum, but its general tone is reassuring in the current wave of campus crises.

Student and faculty voters showed an inclination for an orderly campus and rejected disruptive tactics. Nevertheless, the vote also demonstrated that apathy and wide differences of opinion exist on the campus that could lead to further trouble if not handled properly.

Militancy and confrontation get most of the attention in campus disturbances and too often administrators attempting to do their jobs in protecting the rights of all studens and providing guidance are cast as villains.

Officials at KSU have taken a reasonable stand and must see it through. Their duty is toward orderly change where legitimately needed. It also is their responsibility to find the courage to say "no" to nonissues and enforce campus regulations.

A fine opportunity exists at KSU for students, faculty and administration to bring more light and less heat to the troubled area of campus revolt.

It won't be easy nor free of friction, but if the voice of reason is ever to prevail in a strife-ridden world, it first must be heard on the nation's campuses.

The Silver Beaver

Only those who have been in Boy Scout work for some time can truly appreciate the meaning of the Silver Beaver award presented Thursday night to Lou Landfried of East Liverpool and Dean Senanefes of Lisbon.

One has to have more than just the involvement of a parent interested in his boy, a man willing to do something for young people, a community-minded civic leader fulfilling a goal.

It is these qualifications plus something more, a personal awareness of the need to implement the valuable Boy Scout programs, and a dedication to meeting these needs in just about every possible way one can be called upon to do so. We join with the Boy Scout organization in saluting these latest winners of the treasured Scout honor.

Crime Forces Change

Society's retreat before the advancing forces of crime is taking various forms.

In many U.S. cities, some merchants, who have suffered repeated loss of merchandise to window-breaking thieves, are installing metal screens and gates of the type long used in high-crime areas of New York City.

In Michigan, where a number of young girls and women of one community have been brutally murdered, the women are arming themselves with switchblade knives and tear-gas guns and are venturing forth only in pairs or groups.

IN CINCINNATI, service station operators, alarmed at the number of robberies and slayings at their stations, have gone on record as opposing 24-hour operations.

Following the murder of the third service station attendant in the area within the month, the Greater Cincinnati Gasoline Dealers Association, in a letter to the city's safety director, said the hours after 11 p.m. are nonprofit hours and are a temptation for increased crime. Continuing service station robberies in the Tri-State area only serves to support the truth of the association's statement.

It was further emphasized earlier this week when the gasoline dealers in the Akron area posted a $500 reward for information in the slayings of two attendants killed in service stations in the Akron area.

Although the oil industry controls the service stations' hours of operation, through clauses written into their dealer leases, a further rise in robberies and slayings could force abandonment of the 24-hour-operation policy.

It can only be a matter of time until station attendants will refuse to put their lives on the line every time they go to work.

SOCIETY'S RETREAT from criminals is speeded up in counties like Summit where the sheriff plans to lay off 50 more deputies because of a slash in county funds. He already has released 40 deputies and staff members from his 185-man department.

Faced with inadequate police protection and a growing incidence of robberies and murders, station attendants working alone in outlying areas late at night or in the early morning hours can in no way be blamed for seeking drastic revision of their working hours.

Aquatic Record

Exploration of the deep has advanced another step with the conclusion of Project Tektite which saw four aquanauts set a record for underwater living.

The quartet of aquanauts spent 60 eays in their combination living quarters and laboratory located 42 feet under the Caribbean off St. John Island.

The project was designed to see if a group of men could live and perform meaningful work in isolation beneath the sea.

The men proved it can be done.

The accomplishment is not as spectacular as a space triumph, but it is significant as man tries to tap the riches of the ocean.

A Reasonable Precaution

The decision by five Midwest governors to back intensive monitoring of the Great Lakes as a precaution against pesticide pollution is a reasonable course of action.

Governors of Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Minnesota and Michigan met with representatives of federal pollution-control agencies to develop regional strategy against possible harmful effects of pesticides.

Evidence of the danger of pesticide residue on land and water is growing at an alarming
The controversy expanded to cover the Great Lakes after scientists reported in February that rate.
pesticides were found in fish from the lakes. They pinpointed the source as algaes and plankton covered with insoluble pesticides which are eaten by the fish.

A statement from the governors said: "Available information indicates no demonstrated health hazard in the current pesticide levels in fish."

The move to monitor streams flowing into the lakes to determine the amount and source of accumulating pesticides certainly is in order.

Even though the "present level" of pesticides is not considered dangerous, there definitely is a potential threat in the situation.

In some cases, the pesticide issue may be clouded by "expert" testimony on both sides, but when scientific evidence is available to show that a problem does exist, it cannot be ignored.

The regional approach to the problem is to be commended and Ohio might well consider supporting the program.

Yugoslavia In Uncozy State

Circles rippling from Soviet action in Czechoslovakia are being felt in other parts of the Communist world that are considered by the Kremlin to be out of step.

At the top of the list of mavericks in the Soviet bloc is Yugoslavia. President Tito of Yugoslavia has not been reticent about telling Kremlin leaders what he thinks about their manhandling of such things as sovereignty and independence.

HE DOESN'T FALL in line behind the Soviet position that it has the obligation on defending the "security of the socialist community" by taking over countries leaning toward liberalization.

President Tito roundly denounced the Warsaw Pact invasion of Czechoslovakia and thereby weakened his own position.

Also out of favor in Moscow are Albania, Rumania and, of course, Red China.

Following the invasion of Czechoslovakia, President Tito and Nicolae Ceausescu, Communist party secretary general of Rumania, announced a joint reaffirmation of noninterference principles.

Shortly thereafter, Yugoslavia signed a cooperation with West Germany agreement covering industrial, technical and economic matters.

Yugoslav leaders know their actions are setting off teeth-gnashing sessions in Moscow but they are determined to make a stand.

One Communist party spokesman said: "We felt endangered and we feel endangered. Not so much now, when the Soviet Union is trying to digest Czechoslovakia, but by what will come afterward — especially since there is no sign that the Soviets have changed their long-term goal."

He explained this goal as a "superstate of socialist countries under Soviet leadership."

YUGOSLAVIA is preparing as best it can for whatever may come. Armed forces, including a new citizen corps, have been reorganized for massive partisan-type territorial defense.

President Tito obviously expects Soviet intervention sooner or later. With Czechoslovakia about to be "digested," time may be growing short.

The Yugoslav's ace in the hole is Red Chinese support. If the Bear and the Dragon ever come to an agreement again, Yugoslavia is in deep trouble.

The Balance Of Power

VICTOR RIESEL

SDS May Include Industry

WASHINGTON — The SDS is a many-splintered thing. It's split, but not wide open. Mostly it can be noticed from the inside where the power struggle seethes, as three powerful factions, the Maoist Progressive Labor Party, the Trotskyite Young Socialist Alliance and the traditional Communist youth leaders maneuver for control of delegations to the June convention.

Victor Riesel

There is the fugitive 26-year-old Dave Bishop, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men, who is charged with blowing up four Colorado power lines leading to defense plants. There are the two Communist Party sympathizers, Mike Klonsky, SDS national secretary, and Bernardine Dohrn, interorganization secretary, who want to build a Marxist-Leninist party in coalition with revolutionary black leaders.

And therei s the powerful Maoist Progressive Labor Party bloc, which pushed through the pro-Ho Chi Minh and pro-National Liberation Front resolutions during the final hours of their National Council meeting March 28 to 30.

There's the Young Socialist Alliance, dedicated to Leon Trotsky's permanent world revolution. Strangely, it has its basic and significant strength on the West Coast.

THESE WERE THE competing forces among the 1,000 young people at the National Council meeting in Austin, Texas — about 190 of whom were credentialed delegates. How they actually will line up at the June convention when they will elect new officers, not even the SDS secretariat knows.

But the splintering has not eased revolt on the campus — nor is it slowing the methodical preparation for eventual "revolt" on the industrial front in the factories and shops, the stores and big offices, on the rail lines and in the communication centers of the land.

These young fire-eating leaders can whip up a college riot or a rousing championing of Mao's "struggle-criticism-transformation." But they are realists. They know the shop is not the classroom.

So they are preparing their young people slowly. They're set for another summer of "Work-Ins." They've set up "groups" in many industrial areas — New York, Newark, Princeton, Fordham, Columbia, and Rutgers in the East, others in Michigan and some on the Pacific Coast.

There are regional and group "coordinators." Last year they sent 130 students into the shops, stores and mills in New York, Rochester, Boston, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, Baltimore and Newark. Now the coordinators, operating on the theory that there can be no American revolution without the working class, and war material shipments cannot be halted without this same proletariat, are escalating their infiltration.

THEY KNOW — and they say this to their people — they can't stir the workers of hand and brain into a revolution in one summertime. But they point out that their student SDSers can learn what it means to work, learn what the factory hand thinks, make permanent contacts, offer aid to the rank and file during strikes and demonstrations and lend a hand on research.

Already SDS members have tuned up on critical picket lines. On Tuesday, April 8, they showed at the wildcat line around Chrysler's Sterling Township (Mich.) stamping plant. They helped keep it closed in defiance of the United Auto Workers and the corporation. The Sterling Township installation is a strategic mill to hit. It feeds other Chrysler plants. If it is shut for a while, most of the company must go down.

And so the SDS coordinators' summer Work-In Organizers Manual advises its college people, men and women, to find a summer job in a mill or store with more than 400 employes — preferably General Electric, General Motors, the Penn Central Railroad, or United Airlines.

THE MANUAL SPELLS it all out. Don't use "20 words," it says. Don't hesitate to sign non-Communist or non subversive statements. Generally, don't wear a suit and tie or fancy dress, (no six-inch spike heels), but, "DON'T dress like a slob . . . Don't put on a tough guy act. Use plain simple language and attitude . . . the less said the better."

Or, "Don't start sounding off the first day on the job, or even the first week. Do your work, learn your job.

"Join the bowling league or the baseball team . . . Go to the bar or whatever hangout they go to after work. Don't try to overdo yourself here. If you can't hold your liquor, don't make a fool of yourself trying to be 'one of the boys.' . . .

"Don't talk to workers like you know everything and they know nothing. First of all, it's not true (probably the reverse) . . .

"Your job is to bring across the identity of interests of students and workers, says the Work-In Manual, "the fact that without workers, there would be no universities, that the working class is the class with the power, that without them basic changes in the system can't happen . . .

"Your primary aim will be to work and communicate with the permanent workers in the plant."

At all times, the manual warns the SDS summer Work-In students to keep in touch with "the group." Today, the policy is infiltration and education of activists. Tomorrow, depending on who captures the June convention, the policy may be more explosive, less long-range, more impatient. Shops and plants may crackle like university grounds.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Statements Of Policy

WASHINGTON — Letters from all parts of the country indicate that sentiment is rising against the Nixon administration for its failure to deal with the problem of desegregation or integration in the public schools on the basis of the law of the land rather than the pressures of politics.

Under the last administration, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare issued "guidelines" which sought to do what the Civil Rights Act of 1964 forbade — namely, to use federal power to correct "racial imbalance."

The excuse was that "guidelines" were merely advice and not regulations. Virtually the same attitude now has been adopted by the Nixon administration, which calls the guidelines "statements of policy."

IF THE REASON for this course is that the Negro vote needs to be wooed, it is likely that, unless the present attempts to force "integration" are altered, there will be a much larger "Wallace vote" in 1972 than there was last year. This could help next time to elect a Democrat to the presidency.

The Civil Rights Act of 1964 is the law of the land today. It says:

" 'Desegregation' shall not mean the assignment of students to public schools in order to overcome racial imbalance. . .

"Nothing herein shall empower any official or court of the United States to issue any order seeking to achieve a racial balance in any school by requiring the transportation of pupils or students from one school to another or one school district to another in order to achieve such racial balance."

This same law specifies that any federal department or agency which gives financial assistance to any program or activity must issue a set of "regulations" approved by the President and that these must be "consistent with the achievement of the objectives of the statute."

But "guidelines," instead of "regulations," are being used today as a form of coercion applying not only to the quotas of students from each race suggested for the schools but also to quotas for the assignment of teachers.

Race, rather than ability, is the criterion in many instances in picking a faculty. Thus, the American educational system is facing paradoxically a form of "discrimination in reverse."

Within the last few days, a white teacher filed a damage suit against the board of education in Philadelphia because, it is alleged, a transfer to a predominantly white school was denied him because he is not a Negro. He charges a "studied, willful, deliberate and malicious" violation of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The Supreme Court of the United States has never explicitly rejected a significant opinion handed down in July 1955 by a court composed of two circuit court judges and one district court judge.

It said the Supreme Court had not decided that "the federal courts are to take over or regulate the public schools of the states" or that "the states must mix persons of different races in the schools or must require them to attend schools or must deprive them of the right of choosing the schools they attend."

This means, in effect, that segregation due to natural causes cannot be superseded by compulsory integration. The 1955 court opinion further declares:

"The Constitution, in other words, does not require integration. It merely forbids discrimination. It does not forbid such segregation as occurs as the result of voluntary action. It merely forbids the use of governmental power to enforce segregation."

THERE ARE TO BE SURE, cases in which school boards are trying to maintain segregation through assignment of students within certain school districts on a racial basis. This is a violation of law. Many school boards, on the other hand, are deliberately assigning teachers according to race rather than on the basis of ability and the quality of education they can give.

What's going on behind the scenes in the school districts where racial problems exist is not always revealed because the nature of the "advice" or the interpretation of its own "guidelines" is not always disclosed by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

People are beginning to ask whether political considerations are being regarded by the Nixon administration as more important than the letter of the law.

36 Senators Agree

Arab-Israeli Talks Seen Way To Mideast Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty-six senators said today the only way to lasting peace in the Mideast is through face-to-face Arab-Israeli talks, not from outside big power agreements.

"The parties to the conflict must be parties to the settlement," the senators said in a statement commemorating Israel's 21st anniversary. "We oppose any attempt by outside powers to impose halfway measures not conducive to a permanent peace."

The senators—23 Democrats and 13 Republicans—said that "We deeply regret that Israel's Arab neighbors, after three futile and costly wars, still refuse to negotiate a final peace settlement with Israel."

The statement, drafted by Sens. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., and Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., supports Israel's opposition to the current talks being conducted at the United Nations by the United States, Soviet Union, Britain and France, aimed at finding a settlement to the explosive Mideast situation.

The Arabs, who have expressed interest in the four power talks, insist they will never sit across a conference table with the Israelis until Tel Aviv first withdraws from the territory captured during the 1967 six-day war.

On that point the senators said:

"To ensure direct negotiations and to secure a contractural peace settlement, freely and sincerely signed by the parties themselves, the United States should oppose all pressures upon Israel to withdraw prematurely and unconditionally from any of the territories which Israel now administers."

The senators also deplored "one-sided United Nations resolutions which ignore Arab violations of the cease-fire and which censure Israel's reply and counteraction."

The statement praised Israel for the progress it has made but expressed concern that "the people of Israel are still denied their right to peace and that they must carry heavy defense burdens which divert human and material resources from productive pursuits."

The senators' declaration came a day after the State Department repeated its appeal to both sides to adhere to the cease-fire and House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said the United States would never sell out Israel's interest in the big four talks.

The State Department said Egypt's repudiation of the cease-fire "is retrogressive and can only increase tensions in the area."

Mills Gives Views

Tax Reform Okay Linked To Oil Depletion Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, says passage of a tax reform bill will be almost impossible without some adjustment in the controversial oil depletion allowance.

The Arkansas Democrat told newsmen Thursday, as his committee ended two months of hearings on restructuring the nation's internal revenue code, that the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance was a symbol of tax reform.

The depletion allowance has been criticized by reform advocates as a large loophole, but attempts to modify or junk the exemption have always failed in the past. This was the first time Mills publicly indicated he thought it was necessary to modify the allowance.

Mills said his committee's bill will go beyond Nixon's proposals in this as well as in other areas, although he said he supports Nixon's plan for repealing the 7 per cent investment tax credit and favors eliminating income tax for poverty-level families.

Mills indicated he will go along with extending the income surtax and favors the Nixon plan to cut it from 10 to 5 percent Jan. 1.

Writing of the tax bill will start Tuesday, Mills said, with floor action expected by August. The first order of business will be drafting tighter rules for tax-exempt foundations, he said.

He asked the Treasury officials, who will take part in the closed drafting sessions, to think about establishing a staff to scrutinize more closely than in the past the operation of foundations with tax-exempt status.

Mills' endorsement of repealing the investment tax credit came after he extracted a Nixon administration commitment the on again-off again credit will be ended permanently.

Mills said some way should be sought to reduce the use of tax-free municipal bonds which have been attacked as major tax shelters for corporations and the wealthy. But he suggested the subject is a problem because it is unlikely interest on bonds already issued could be taxed.

Mills proposed developing other ways to aid local governments to raise money so that fewer of the tax-free securities will be issued.

As for Nixon's proposal for a kind of minimum tax to get some additional revenue from people who use legal tax shelters, Mills said he can see the utility of this as a backstop—but he wants to attack the shelters head-on first.

could be handled as a contributing charge in Juvenile Court or referred to the Grand Jury for consideration as statutory rape, a felony.

And by law, the prosecutor's office could refer the case to the Grand Jury as statutory rape whatever the outcome of the contributing charge hearing in Juvenile Court.

At a preliminary hearing Tuesday afternoon when the girl testified about the offense, the defendant and his counsel, Lawrence W. Smith Jr. of East Liverpool, asked Judge Tobin to retain jurisdiction. The judge deferred a decision until yesterday to determine whether the prosecutor intended to take the case to the Grand Jury even if there is a Juvenile Court hearing.

Assistant Prosecutor John B. McDonald said yesterday the prosecutor's office would abide by the court's decision, with the provision that Peters resign from the police force.

Peters refused and Judge Tobin referred the case "upstairs." Judge Tobin had said Tuesday that he did not think it would be fair for Peters to have to stand trial twice for the same act and if there was any chance the prosecutor would take the case to the Grand Jury he (Judge Tobin) would not go any farther with the hearing.

Peters' $1,000 bond was continued. His suspension as a policeman continues until the case is decided.

Near Laotian Border

North Viet Commandos Batter Into Allied Camp

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese commandos moving behind a rolling mortar barrage battered their way into an allied camp near the Laotian border today, with dynamite bombs and hand grenades.

First reports said three American soldiers and four South Vietnamese troops were killed, 12 Americans and 43 South Vietnamese were wounded and at least three armored personnel carriers were destroyed.

The U.S. Command said 30 North Vietnamese soldiers also were killed, raked by 90mm tank guns and .50-caliber machine guns mounted on the personnel carriers.

Attack 300 GIs

The North Vietnamese attacked about 300 soldiers from the U.S. 5th Mechanized Infantry Division and from a South Vietnamese armored cavalry troop who were in night bivouac two miles east of the Laotian border and 19 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

Mortar shells began pouring into the camp about 3:30 a.m., pinning the allied soldiers down. While they were taking cover, the North Vietnamese commandos slipped through. Once in the camp, they began hurling hand grenades and dynamite bombs into the defenders' foxholes and firing bazooka-type rocket grenades that cut through the armored personnel carriers.

Spokesmen said the size of the commando force was initially estimated at 30 men, but it likely was more.

2 More Copters Lost

Two more American helicopters were shot down Thursday near the Laotian border in the northern half of South Vietnam, killing two Americans and wounding four. The weekly summary of aircraft losses reported that 2,562 helicopters had been lost in the war, an increase of 23 since last Friday.

The summary also reported a total of 2,671 fixed-wing aircraft lost, an increase of 15 since last Friday.

More enemy troops were reported withdrawing to South Vietnam's borders as the United States stepped up its air attack witht he heaviest bombing raids of the war.

Military analysts said several enemy battalions that had been poised southwest of the ancient imperial capital of Hue were retreating to bases along the Laotian border. Latest intelligence indicated the troop movements were part of a general withdrawal of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong units to Laotian and Cambodian sanctuaries, the analysts said.

They attributed the withdrawal to serious losses suffered during the Communist command's spring offensive rather than an effort to de-escalate the war. The troop movements also might be in preparation for another offensive, the analysts reported.

Mention Offensive

"Captured documents mention another offensive in the months to come, but nothing firm," one source said. "This could be simply an effort to motivate their own troops."

The U.S. Command claims at least 34,740 enemy troops have been killed during the spring offensive, now nearing the end of its ninth week. Headquarters reported American deaths during the period totaled 2,360, and the number of South Vietnamese government forces killed was put at 2,618.

American B52 bombers continued to pound North Vietnamese 1st and 7th Division troops that were reported earlier to have pulled back to bases along the Cambodian frontier about 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

In the heaviest bombing concentration of the war, the big planes have dumped more than 4,000 tons of bombs since Wednesday night on suspected enemy positions within two miles of that border.

Little Ground Fighting

Little ground fighting was reported, and U.S. headquarters said there were only nine shellings of allied bases and South Vietnamese towns during the night, fewer than usual even during the long lull which preceded the start of the offensive last Feb. 23. Light casualties and damage were reported.

Workmen searching the sand flats east and southeast of Hue found 211 more bodies in mass graves this week. The dead, including two children and eight women, were victims of Viet Cong executioners during fighting for the city in the Tet offensive of February 1968.

So far, 859 bodies have been exhumed from more than a score of trenches uncovered in the area, and searchers expect the total to exceed 1,000. About 1,500 persons were not accounted for after the fighting, and only 150 of the recovered bodies have been identified.

The U.S. Army announced today it had turned over 18 105mm howitzers to the South Vietnamese army in its program to shift more of the war effort to government forces.

The guns belonged to the U.S. 77th Artillery's 6th Battalion, which is being deactivated. The 600 men of the battalion will complete their Vietnam tours with other units or as advisers to the South Vietnamese.

Lawyers Taking First Step In Appeals Open To Sirhan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lawyers take the first step today in the extensive appeals process open to Sirhan Bishara Sirhan.

Judge Herbert V. Walker granted defense attorneys a special hearing to argue for a one-week postponement—to May 21—of their motions for a new trial and Walker's formal sentence on the assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

A seven-man, five-women jury Wednesday condemned the 25-year-old Jordanian Arab to death in the gas chamber for first-degree murder. Walker than set May 14 for a hearing on motions and the sentencing.

A multitude of legal avenues available to Sirhan's defenders could prevent the death penalty or at least postpone it.

His chief defense counsel, Grant B. Cooper, estimated Thursday that an appeal of the conviction and sentence would take at least a year. The trial lasted nearly 16 weeks.

Cooper said his motion for a new trial will be based on three grounds:

—That Walker committed judicial error in rejecting a defense-prosecution agreement before the trial for a guilty plea to first degree murder, with a life sentence.

—That the grand jury which indicted Sirhan did not represent a cross section of the population of Los Angeles County — economically, ethnically or geographically.

—That Sirhan's private notebooks were admitted improperly into evidence since they were seized without a search warrant. In them, Sirhan scrawled repeatedly "RFK must die."

Walker, dean of the criminal bench here, is empowered to reduce the penalty to life.

Cooper and the other defense attorneys served without fee. Cooper originally had announced plans to withdraw if Sirhan was given life imprisonment, leaving an appeal to others.

"I can't withdraw now," he said. "My conscience wouldn't let me."

Meanwhile, Kenneth Hahn, a Los Angeles County supervisor, said the case to date cost taxpayers $910,634. The defense called his figures inflated.

Judge Fines Five Drivers

Five motorists paid penalties in Municipal Court this morning when they appeared for hearings on traffic charges.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff ordered a fine of $20 and costs for Jerry Heiney of 18th St. Heights, Wellsville, charged April 7 with speeding 60-miles-an-hour in a 50 mile zone.

Charles Lucas Jr. of East Liverpool RD 1 was fined $10 and costs for failure to file for registration on a truck he was operating Thursday about 11:30 p.m. on Route 30.

Lonnie E. Kidder of the Y. and O. Rd., was fined $15 and costs for failure to display a slow moving vehicle emblem on the back of a tractor he was driving yesterday about 2:45 p.m. on Park Way.

Jeffery S. Welch of 1880 Anderson Blvd. was fined $10 and costs for driving with a defective muffler system. He was charged yesterday about 2:50 p.m. on Park Way. Liverpool Township Constable Thomas Edgell made the Kidder and Welch arrests.

Michael Ryan of 712 Sophia St. was ordered to pay costs for a charge of driving without a license. He was arrested April 16 by city police at Broadway and St. Clair.

Meanwhile, the Israeli army announced that one of its patrols killed six Egyptian soldiers in a commando group that crossed the Suez Canal early today to raid Israeli positions on the east bank. One Israeli soldier was reported wounded.

It was the fourth reported raid by Egyptian commandos this week, and the most costly to the Egyptians. On Monday, Egyptian raiders killed three Israeli soldiers, wounded three and are believed to have kidnaped another.

De Gaulle

seems to be that many middle-of-the-road Frenchmen no longer believe a whirlwind of confusion and anarchy would follow the old man's departure.

The Communists demonstrated during the student-labor turmoil last year that they aren't militant revolutionaries. The Left appears divided, and De Gaulle's former premier, Georges Pompidou, is regarded by many cautious Frenchmen as a likely and quite capable successor to the general.

No one seems to know why De Gaulle decided he needed a vote of confidence at this time.

His speeches and memoirs tell of various periods in his career, going as far back as 1940, when he felt "I had to ask myself if I must not leave (history)." The most recent occasion was last May 29, during the student-worker crisis, "when I was tempted to leave."

If De Gaulle were defeated Sunday and resigned, Senate President Alain Poher, a centrist, would become interim president. The constitution provides for an election within 20 to 50 days. Any number of candidates could run, and if none got a majority, the two high men would compete in a runoff. The new president would serve a full seven-year term.

Mishap Causes Dented Trailer, Horse Headache

A horse-sized headache and a dented trailer resulted from the latest barrier mishap on the Chester Bridge, city police report.

The trailer, hauled by a Canadian motorist headed for the Waterford Park race track, struck the 7-foot barrier at the East Livepool end of the span about 3:02 p.m. yesterday.

Patrolman Karl Samples said the auto was driven by Poulin Renee, 28, of Montreal who reported he had not been through East Liverpool before and was talking to a passenger in the car as he approached the bridge.

He said he did not see the signs, flags and dangling ropes which serve as warnings of the barrier erected in 1968 to prevent heavy trucks from using the bridge on which there is a 2½-ton load limit due to weakening cables.

In the trailer was a thoroughbred owned by Delcor White of Royal Oak, Mich., which apparently escaped injury. Renee's 1964 sedan was not damaged, but the trailer was dented, police said.

Does World Bug You?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Does the world bug you?

Are you so perplexed and upset by the chaos around you that you sometimes wonder whether you're in your right mind?

Well, why not find out for yourself whether it's the world that is balmy or you that is batty: It isn't difficult to do. To find ou how normal or abnormal you are, simply take a pencil and piece of paper and answer the following questions:

If you were at the track and found that a certain race was fixed, would you take advantage of he siuaion by being on he horse that was bound to win?

When attending a cocktail party at a neighbor's house, would you like to sneak a kiss from your host's wife if she only had less character and also was younger and prettier?

Now and then when you wake up in the morning do you have an almost irrestible impuse to pull the sheet over your face and stay in bed all day?

Are you convinced that bad luck dogs you and that if you bought 9,999 tickets out of a 10,000-ticket church raffle, the other fellow would take the prize?

Did you used to have the feeling that somebody was following you but now feel that it couldn't be just one person—it must be five or six?

As the years roll on, do you find hat your shoelaces are breaking more often when you're in a hurry and you're spilling more gravy on your neckties?

Does it annoy you to see two young lovers smooching on a park bench, although you know darned well it is none of your business?

When the boss says "hello" to you as you come into the office, do you then sit at your desk until noon wondering morosely what in the devil he's driving at?

Does it seem to you that everything you buy on time wears out or breaks down just before you pay the next to the last installment?

When you trundle your shopping cart through a supermarket, do you have an uneasy feeling that half the women in the place are conspiring to beat you to a place in the line at the checkout counter?

If someone tries to get you into a conservation about the U.S. foreign policy, does a gathering numbness start in your big toe and creep steadily up your body to your ears?

Are you talking to yourself more nowadays—and enjoying it less?

Well, that's the test. Now to the score. If you answered "no" to all these questions, you're in trouble. You probably are being followed by several people—men in white carrying a straitjacket.

But if you said "yes" to each question, you can relax. Your mind is as normal as life can permit it to be.

Your problem is that you are simply getting old and tired and cranky—and falling apart—just like everybody else.

The DOCTOR Says

The Farm's No Longer Quit

The farm used to be one of the quietest places in the world except at thrashing time. Now the noise from tractors and other modern equipment is so great as to constitute a real threat to hearing.

Dr Brandstadt

E. W. Simpson Jr. of the University of Nebraska placed a specially designed microphone near the ear of a tractor operator. A total of 55 tractors were used in the study and the quitest one gave off 97 decibels while the loudest gave off 114.

Sound levels in excess of 85 decibels over a prolonged period are sufficient to cause a permanent loss of hearing. Other types of farm equipment, including power saw, combine, corn picker, grain elevator and hammer mill, gave off 90 to 113.5 decibels.

Loud noise, long recognized as an environmental problem, is estimated to be doubling every 10 years. Not only has it invaded the farm, the formerly tranquil lake resorts are fast becoming filled with the sound of outboard motors and transistor radios. Avenues of escape are vanishing like the buffalo and the buffalo nickel. Only aroused public opinion can force the application of adequate control measures.

Q — In a recent answer about psoriasis, you advised against excessive bathing. What do you consider excessive? How often should a person bathe?

A — People's bathing requirements vary, depending on how much natural oil is present in their skin and on the nature of their work.

Although a daily bath with soap and water is considered a necessity by many persons, this amount of bathing removes the protective oils from the skin and aggravates such diseases as psoriasis, eczema and ichthyosis. Persons with these diseases may need to bathe no more than every six or seven days. For the average person, under normal conditions, two baths a week in winter and three a week in summer is usually sufficient.

Q—I crave ice all the time. I even take a jar of ice cubes to work with me. Is this harmful?

A—Sucking ice is less likely to chill your stomach than gulping ice cold drinks and should not be harmful. Don't follow the ice too closely with a hot drink or you may crack the enamel of your teeth.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general intrest in future columns.

Plans At Guilford Lake Are Outlined By State

GUILFORD — Approximately 100 crowded the grange hall Thursday night to hear the state's plans for Guilford Lake, where repairs are under way on the dam.

They were informed that the Division of Parks may bring in a dragline to dredge silted bays and marshes and that the fish management division is planning a two-year program to improve fishing.

State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Lisbon introductd Ralph Ramey of the Division of Parks. He screened slides of the lake as it appeared last summer and talked about the possibility of dredging and beautifying some of the areas.

Fish management was represented by Clayton Lakes of Columbus, state fish management supervisor; Ed Bradley of Ravenna, fish supervisor for District 3, including Columbiana County, and Ken Hepler of Highlandtown Lake, fish supervisor in this area. They were introduced by Ralph Drake of Lisbon, Columbiana County game protector.

They said good fish — bass, northern pike, channel catfish, large crappies and bluegills will be taken from the lake by a netting program while the water is down for the dam work. These fish will be placed in a holding pen across the county road from north bay.

The water remaining in the lake will be treated with Rotenone to kill the remaining fish and they will be removed.

The lake will be stocked after the Rotenone has diluted.

The lake will be closed to fishing until next spring and open then only for the taking of bluegills and crappies.

Charles J. Gause, president, said a house-to-house canvass will be made to determine how many property owners are interested in getting natural gas service. He said 212 inquiries were mailed to property owners, but only 90 returned the questionnaire.

Dean E. Beck, manager of Ohio Edison's Salem area, was present for a discussion of street lights for the lake colony. Center Township trustees also attended.

SPEAKER. J. Ed Uland, executive secretary of the Greater Lorain Chamber of Commerce, will be guest speaker during the dinner meeting of the East Liverpool Area Chamber of Commerce next Wednesday night at the Country Club.

Committees Set By Prom Group

Committees were named when the Oak Glen High School Post-Prom Association met Thursday night at the school.

They follow: Chaperones—Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Miller, Mrs. Donald Thornberry, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kryzt and Mr. and Mrs. James Ray Ryar.

Wellsville Firemen Make 2 Minor Runs

Wellsville firemen extinguished two minor blazes Thursday night within a half-hour.

Chief Robert Lewis said an auto belonging to Emmet Vernon of Anderson Ave., Wellsville, backfired through the carburetor, causing a fire. No estimate was made of the damage to the 1959 vehicle. The call was received at 7:10 p.m.

Meanwhile, children playing in the home of Arnold Hooper of 812 17th St. apparently caused a blaze there.

Firemen said minor damage was done to a bedroom mattress and curtains. The dwelling is owned by the state of Ohio.

The fire was at 7:30.

Contract Let In Road Work

LISBON — Central Allied Equipment, Inc. (Ohio Tar and Asphalt Co.) of Canton will furnish bituminous material for Columbiana County's summer road maintenance program for $193,885.

Its bid, the only one received by the commissioners Thursday, compares with an estimate of $197,754 by County Engineer Bert A. Dawson Jr. The road program totals 221.5 miles.

The commissioners received a 21-name petition for the rededication of Miller Rd. at the junction of state Route 11 "and to install or cause to be installed there a bridge or underpass in order to facilitate traffic and help the undersigned freeholders living in the designated area."

The commissioners in July 1965 vacated the portion of Miller Rd. crossed by Route 11 about a half-mile east of route 164, northeast of Lisbon.

The Ohio Highway Department requested the vacation. Only Ralph Swartz of the highway department attended the public hearing in the commissioners' office.

In a letter enclosing the petition, Edmund Pahanish of Leetonia RD said, "This road is more used than a few others that are bridged around here." He said copies of the petition have been mailed to Rep. Wayne L. Hays, Gov. James A. Rhodes, Sen. Douglas Applegate, P. E. Masheter, Ohio director of highways, and F. C. Turner, director of public roads.

John E. Steiner of Dalton RD 1 was employed as a County Home farmhand at $250 a month, plus room and board.

Newell Firemen Set Annual Drive

Newell firemen will begin their annual house - to - house "maintenance drive" Monday.

The department asks $5 from each resident to assist with the upkeep of the department.

Don McVeigh, chairman, said the money will be used for insurance premiums, lights, heat, gasoline and equipment.

Gene Lytton, a member of the carnival committee, said each organization interested in having a booth during the annual event should contact him immediately.

During a meeting this week, firemen voted to order six so-called "Indian cans" — five-gallon water cans for fighting brush fires. The department already has received three of the devices.

Robert Duncan presided.

Attendant Is Robbed By Two Masked Men

Two masked men robbed an attendant at the Highway Oil Co on Rt. 51, Darlington Township, of $371 in cash Wednesday.

Raymond Stuckley Jr., 18, of Enon Valley, told Pennsylvania state police at Chippewa the two men, with stockings over their heads, robbed him at gunpoint. When last seen, they were headed toward Ohio.

Search For Father, Son In River Resumes

CINCINNATI (AP) — Searchers were to resume their sweep today of the Ohio River for a man and his son who disappeared late Thursday.

Richard Carnes, 36, of suburban California, dived in to save his son, Ross, 7, after the youngster fell from a boat.

Kurfess

vide nearly $55 million over the next two years.

The finance director said "austerity measures would have to remain in effect for the entire biennium in order to make the money available for education."

This would bring in an additional $25 million in unanticipated state revenues and makes the Collier estimate of available state revenue $30 million higher than the Kurfess estimate.

The administration's education-tax bill proposed a 1.25 per cent vender's excise tax to bring in an estimated $264 million over a two year period.

Kurfess indicated that because there will be no new state taxes that the education proposals in the bill will have to be trimmed, but declined to say what specific ones would be abandoned.

Kurfss said the bill to provide a mandatory 1 per cent county income tax, which was written by the Republican leadership in the House, would "not have any impact at the state level."

He said it would simply "restructure" taxes at the local level since the bill requires a reduction in property taxes.

House Democrats did not waste any time in criticizing the "find" of $110 million.

House Minority Leader John C. McDonald, D - 19, Newark, said in a release it is "difficult to reconcile this newly discovered surplus with the administration's statement of three months ago that 'all known and anticipated funds are budgeted'."

McDonald added that either the Republican administration was "deliberately misleading the taxpayers and the General Assembly" or that it is guilty of "sloppy and shoddy money management practices."

McDonald noted that the Republican party has had exclusive control of the state auditor's office since the election of Rhodes to that position in 1952.

Only 11 per cent of the area of Australia, most arid of all the continents, gets more than 40 inches of rain annually; two - thirds gets less than 20 inches.

ANN LANDERS

Senile Driver Ban Urged

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Several days ago I bumped into my 84-year-old grandfather who was driving around the business section. He was lost, confused and unable to identify himself by name. He did not recognize me.

I finally persuaded him to let me get in his car and direct him to his home. I almost had a heart attack as I sat beside him. Twice he began to turn into a one-way street. He nearly hit a pedestrian and did not see a stop sign. All this within 15 minutes.

When we reached the house, I went in, took Grandma aside and explained the situation. She became very upset when I suggested that Grandpa should not be driving —that he was endangering not only his life but the lives of others.

Grandma assured me that even though he has occasional lapses of memory, his mind is sharp as a tack.

After much soul searching I sat down and wrote a letter to the chief of public safety. Five days later Grandpa received a letter saying he could no longer drive. The family asked me if I had tipped off the officials and I said yes. Now they're all mad at me. I'm a "traitor" and a "no-good louse."

Will you please tell me if, in your opinion, I did the right thing? — DRUMMED OUT OF THE TRIBE.

Dear Drummed: What you did took enormous courage and I salute you. It's too bad the state in which you live does not have mandatory periodic re-examinations for all drivers over 65.

Get on the backs of your state legislators. The number of senile, half-blind, half-dead drivers in this country would give you the screamin' meemies.

The Honeymooners

Dear Ann: I hope it isn't too late for a man to get in his nickel's worth about those "dead battery" couples who, after 10 years of marriage, go completely dead.

If Myrtle and I wanted an excuse to cut back our sex life we would have some dandies. I work two jobs, a total of 14 hours a day — living proof that physical exhaustion is mostly mental. If a person wants to have enough energy after a hard day's work to make love, he'll manage it.

Myrtle runs after our five kids, takes care of a big house, does the washing, ironing and cooking, plus running errands for the in-laws. She has no outside help and doesn't want any.

But are we too tired for romance? Not on your tintype, Annie! Our batteries are equipped with booster cables called love and respect. Our love life, like wine, gets better with age.

I know I've rambled a lot, so please cut this letter down but don't kill the message. — A HAPPY MAN.

Dear Man: Here's your letter — and the message is very much alive. Thanks for writing.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her incare of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Rather Than Bosses, Leaders

Kennedy Cites Rank-File As Best To Reform Party

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said today that rank-and-file Democrats—rather than organizations, leaders or bosses—should have "the greatest possible role" in reforming party procedures.

The Massachusetts Democrat, considered a front runner among his party's possible 1972 presidential candidate, called for statewide referenda or conventions to make the final decision once the reform commission headed by Sen. George S. McGovern reaches its conclusions, which are expected to be guidelines for states to follow.

Kennedy's proposals came in testimony prepared for the first of 16 hearings planned by the McGovern Commission into ways the party can make its nominating procedures more democratic.

Among the 18 witnesses called today also were Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the 1968 Democratic vice presidential candidate and a 1972 presidential possibility, and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, an unsuccessful 1968 White House aspirant.

Kennedy's message appeared different in tack and tone from the statement of former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who sent written remarks because he couldn't attend the meeting.

While he said he has always fought for broader participation in the decision making processes of the party, the main thrust of Humphrey's message was aimed at strengthened organization.

"Local political organizations must continue to be the main gate of the political arena," the 1968 Democratic presidential nominee said. "This must be a prime goal of your commission, your convention and your party. Our actions should be weighed as to their effect on strengthening local party organization."

Kennedy, dwelling more specifically on how reforms should be decided, urged the commission to accelerate its efforts "by requesting from every state party an effective action plan for reform, innovation, experimentation and equal opportunity."

He said the commission also should foster local caucuses, regional seminars and statewide forums to discuss reforms.

Kennedy warned that it "will be of little benefit to anyone" if the convention is dominated by procedural fights over credentials and rules.

Although time is short in many states to secure needed statutory changes, Kennedy said, "the demand for speed should not eliminate popular participation in the choice."

In addition, Kennedy recommended that local party units transform themselves into "a constant living factor in community life" by developing programs to deal with local problems and by acting as ombudsmen to answer the complaints of individual citizens.

Humphrey stressed a strong role for national leadership.

"The national party must carefully exercise its power to demand of state organizations requirements in obtaining new state laws which broaden the selection process and afford better timing for the choice of national convention delegates," Humphrey said.

Money For Roads, Streets

$5 Vehicle License Fee Seen Most Popular Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The $5 per vehicle license fee passed by the 107th General Assembly was its most popular effort in the field of permissive taxes.

The tax should make a big difference in the money available for road and street maintenance and construction.

The additional $5 is tacked onto license plate fees in 35 of Ohio's 88 counties and in 13 municipalities.

Fred Rice, registrar at the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles, estimates the tax will produce an additional $20-25 million by next April 15.

Final figures on 1968 tag sales won't be available until an audit is complete but Rice estimates 6.2 million vehicles were licensed for that year.

Rice estimates that income will be about $10 million above the $100,473,000 produced on the sale of 1967 license plates.

The Bureau of Motor Vehicles collects all money on the sale of vehicle licenses and turns it back to local governments for road and street maintenance and construction.

On the basic fee, Rice said the first five per cent is returned to counties equally; the next 47 per cent goes to the county of residence for tag buyers and another 34 per cent goes to the city of residence for buyers.

Where tag buyers live in no city the additional 34 per cent goes to the county.

Nine per cent and five per cent of the total, respectively, is returned to counties and townships on the basis of their road miles.

The extra $5 collected by the 35 counties and 13 municipalities will be returned to those local governments which collected it.

Other tax measures adopted by the 1967 legislature would:

—Permit counties to impose a one-half per cent sales tax in addition to the four per cent state sales tax.

—Permit cities or townships to impose a hotel-motel room tax of up to three per cent.

—Impose a mandatory real estate property transfer tax of one mill and allowed counties to add another three mills to such a tax.

—Allow a two per cent tax on utility bills above the first $5.

No counties are yet collecting the additional sales tax although Cuyahoga, Hamilton, Summit, Miami and Franklin counties have taken steps toward it.

The hotel-motel tax is collected by the cities of Columbus, Riverside, Boston Heights, Beechwood and Cincinnati, as well as by some townships.

No local governments have imposed the utilities tax and only three counties are collecting any portion of the property transfer tax.

Carroll County collects the full three mills alloted on property transfers while Paulding and Union counties each collect one mill.

Laird Denies Bid 4 Ohio GIs Be Returned Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saying all American combat troops must share the hazards of Vietnam equally, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has turned down a request that servicemen from Beallsville, Ohio, be removed from the war zone.

Five servicemen from Beallsville, a town of 500 residents, have died in Vietnam. Four more now are in Vietnam and two others are on assignment to got here.

Rep. Clarence E. Miller, R-Ohio, who had asked Laird personally to remove the other Beallsville area men from the fighting zone, said Thursday Laird had advised him by letter that such action was non consistent with established policy.

Saying in his letter that he deeply regrets that any Amerian serviceman must be sent to face the hazards of Vietnam, Laird added:

"We are also acutely aware of the personal anxiety and concern of the Beallsville residents with respect to their combat losses.

"However, in fairness to all military personnel and their families, the military services closely adhere to the established policy whih provides that overseas assignments, including those in areas of potential combat, must be shared as equitably as practiable by all military personnel consistent with the rank and skill requirements of our overseas units."

Keeps Predicting Inflation Control

Chase Caught In Middle On Soaring Living Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government economist who interprets the consumer price index is having a tough time explaining why living costs keep soaring despite his repeated predictions that control of inflation is just around the corner.

The man most frequently caught in the middle in the inexact science of predicting price behavior is Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics in charge of price reports.

Chase's difficulties, however, pale into insignificance when compared to the potential for political trouble posed by rising living costs for President Nixon.

Nixon made Democratic failure to control of inflation an issue during last fall's campaign. Since he took office in January, prices have risen at an annual rate of 6 per cent, considerably higher than 1968's increase of 4.8 per cent, sharpest yearly jump in 18 years.

Economist Chase began predicting a turnabout six months ago, and he's still forecasting a slow down.

"It is safe to say the peak of the inflationary surge is past," said the optimistic Chase last October—only to see his hopes dashed the very next month by a price increase of six-tenths of one per cent, biggest surge for one month in six years.

Since that unfortunate prediction by the usually cautious Chase, living costs have climbed another 2.7 per cent and clipped another 3.4 cents from the value of the dollar.

"We have turned the corner," said Chase in November—and prices promptly went up another four-tenths of one per cent.

In December prices rose only two-tenths, smallest increase of 1968, but Chase declined to go along with some other economists who predicted a slower rate of inflation in 1969.

He recovered some of his optimism, however, after a rise of three-tenths in January. "There is some slowing down," he said, observing, along with some other federal economists, that the income surtax and other monetary restraints should further slow the pace.

But the price index showed another rise of four-tenths in February. "The effects of the fiscal restraints have been delayed longer than most people expected," Chase explained.

Then, on Thursday, the March report showed an eight-tenths rise in prices—biggest single monthly jump in 18 years.

"The fire will just have to burn itself out and I am confident it will do so," said Chase. "The rate of increase will begin to slow down in the next few months."

Probe Uncovers Complaints On Canceled Auto Insurance

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate probe of the auto insurance industry has resulted in a stream of complaints from car owners, charging their policies were canceled for odd, vague or flimsy reasons—including alleged bad "personal habits."

In one instance a man was denied coverage on grounds he gambled and raised gamecocks.

Another policy was cancelled because: "Your wife's reputation does not meet our underwriting standards."

The Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee will delve into such cases at a public hearing next month, with the centerpiece the troubles of Gerald D. Huey of Strafford, Va.

Huey learned Feb. 19 his policy would not be renewed by Royal Indemnity Co. "because of unfavorable information we have received concerning personal habits within your household."

He got another policy, but it was canceled without explanation.

"Scores of similar cases came to our attention," said subcommittee Chairman Philip A. Hart, D-Mich. Dean E. Sharp, assistant council to the panel, said the complaints are still coming.

Several auto insurance cancellations stirred controversy in recent months. One man, whose home had been visited by an insurance company representative, received a cancellation notice which said "it is alleged that your house is filthy."

A cab driver who lost his policy was told by the company: "The specific reason for refusal cannot be given as it is regarded as confidential."

Another protest comes from a man at Big Stone Gap, Va., whose son was involved in an accident. The other driver was ruled at fault. Both cars were insured by the same company.

The father refused a $100 settlement, and again rejected an offer of $750. Finally, the claim was settled for $1,500.

Then, on Jan. 4, 1968, this notice arrived: "Your automobile insurance is being terminated because of your lack of cooperation and assistance in settlement of your claim . . ."

A Bowie, Md., man who said he paid more than $650 in premiums to an insurance company over seven years told of being threatened with cancellation after he filed two claims totaling $43.53.

While reasons for cancellation vary, investigators have found many are issued after a company receives reports about the reputation or habits of a driver or his family.

Sharp said the subcommittee has no national figures on the cancellation rate.

At an earlier hearing, the committee got an accounting of appeals to the insurance commission in South Carolina. That agency ruled the reasons for cancellation valid in only 55 cases out of 244 appeals it received over a 23-month period.

East Liverpool's Bernie Allen is just one of many Tri-State players on major league baseball rosters.

Few are hitting as well as Allen right now, who was at .389 after a 3-for-3 game Wednesday raised his season's mark to 7 for 18, including four doubles.

One who is hitting better is another Allen, Harold. Bernie's Washington teammate, who is slugging the ball at a .393 clip. Harold, along with his famous brother Richie of the Philadelphia Phillies, is from Wampm, Pa.

In addition to the two Allens, the Senators have Jim French, a native of Warren, and Ed Stroud, who also lives in Warren now.

THE PIRATES, as might be expected, have the most area products. Best known is Tiltonsville's Bill Mazeroski, who now resides in Greensburgh. Bruce Dal Canton of Califorina, Pa. still live near their native areas. Gary Kolb and Willie Stargell now make their permanent homes in Pittsburgh.

One of the more recent additions of area players to the big league scene is Rollie Fingers of Oakland, a Steubenville native who moved to California at the age of 8. Mike Hershberger of the A's is from Massillon. Another Massillon product is Joe Sparma of the Tigers.

The Angels list Tom Satriano of Pittsburgh, the White Sox have Gary Peters of Grove City and Bob Priddy of Pittsburgh and the Yankees Joe Verbanio of Washington, Pa., Gene Michael of Kent and Bill Robinson of McKeesport.

Brothers Phil Niekro of the Braves and Joe Niekro of the Cubs come from the Martins Ferry area. Phil was born in Blaine and Joe was born in Martins Ferry and now lives in Lansing. The Braves also have New Brighton's Tito Francona, while the Cubs list Glen Beckert of Pittsburgh and Gary Ross of McKeesport.

The Dodgers have Andy Kosco of Struthers, who formerly was with the Twins and Yankees, Paul Popovich, ex-WVU star from Flemington, W. Va. There were several other area players on spring rosters who failed to stick into the regular season, including former Angel Paul Schaal from Pittsburgh.

THE NCAA has made a good move in splitting its members into three divisions for football statistics and championships. The number of schools in the university division will remain the same—114. But the 155 smallest schools of the college division will now be in a division by themseleves, with the revised college division to have 174 teams. This means schools such as Wittenberg and Fairmont will not have to compete with huge "small colleges" such as Los Angeles State and San Diego State. The Ohio High School Athletic Association could learn from the NCAA'S move.

Montgomery Tops W. Beaver

By TURK PIERCE

Swinging with the take sign on, Randy McVay belted a grand-slam home run in the first inning to propel East Liverpool to an 8-0 win over Western Beaver at the Colt Field Thursday afternoon.

Bill Montgomery was the winning pitcher, yielding only one hit in four innings. McVay pitched three innings of hitless relief.

The Potters, winning their fifth in seven starts, routed Eli Rakas with a six-run first inning. Kim Kemple singled to start the rally and Dan Cunningham doubled him to third. The wind blew Montgomery's pop fly out of reach of the Western fielders in short left and Kemple scored. Tom Chambers walked to load the bases.

Coah Jim Potts singled Cunningham to steal home against the left-handed Rakas, and had the take sign on to McVay. But the sophomore third baseman missed the sign and swung, nearly hitting Cunningham, who arrived at home about the same time as the pitch. The ball sailed over the left-field fence just inside the foul pole for a grand slam. Later in the inning Jim Massey singled and Marv Schell walked. Both moved up on a wild pitch and Massey scored on another wild pitch. Schell attempted to come home on a wild throw, but was cut down at the plate.

Joe Pillar held the Potters scoreless for two innings, though Montgomery was out at home after he doubled and tried to score from sceond on an infield error.

John Petchell was touched for two runs in the fourth without a ball being hit out of the infield. Kemple walked and stole second. Cunningham hit to shortstop Don Traylor, who looked Kemple back, but was too late to get Cunningham. A wild pitch moved the runners up and Montgomery's grounder to second scored Kemple. Traylor again hesitated on a bill hit by Chambers and Cunningham scored. Cunningham got his second double of the day leading off the seventh against Traylor, the fourth pitcher employed by Mike Hornick, but died on second.

The only baserunner against Montgomery was Dave McCreery, whose line-drive single to center was just out of the reach of a diving Cunningham. Montgomery effectively mixed his fast ball, curve and off-speed pitches, fanning eight. His control was excellent, as he went to three balls only on one hitter. McVay, though not quite as sharp, was more than good enough to stifle the Golden Beaver bats. The losters are now 2-5.

Padres Win 4-1

Astros Deck Colbert, Colbert Decks Astros

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Last October, the Houston Astros decided Nate Colbert couldn't help them. Six months later, they figured he couldn't hurt them either.

Colbert took the first brush-off in stride, but he wasn't about to take another lying down.

The rookie infielder, a former Houston prospect landed by San Diego in the October expansion draft, confounded the Astros' strategy and tactics Thursday night and beat them 4-1 with his first major league homer, a three-run eighth inning wallop.

After Tony Gonzalez doubled with two out in the Padres' eighth, Houston reliever Jack Billingham walked Ollie Brown intentionally to get at Colbert—then flattened him with an inside pitch.

Colbert picked himself up and tagged the next pitch 420 feet into the left center field bleachers, breaking a 1-1 deadlock. The homer was the first hit off Billingham in 58 games, including 50 with Los Angeles last season.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati edged Los Angeles 8-7, San Francisco topped Atlanta 5-1, St. Louis edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2 and Philadelphia rapped Montreal 7-1. Pittsburgh was rained out at New York.

"It was real nice hitting that homer, especially after they knocked me down so many times," Colbert, whose blast sent the Astros reeling to their eighth loss in the last nine games. "I don't know what it is, but they knocked me down twice tonight and they did it three times last night."

Colbert, who appeared in 19 games with the Astros three years ago and got into 20 more last season, batting .133 overall, has had hands broken twice by tight pitches in the minors.

"They're trying to pitch me inside," he said. "I used to chase a lot of bad balls, but I think it's the hands. One or two times might be an accident. But I don't like to get thrown at. I don't think anybody does."

Colbert, who started the night with one RBI in 12 games, also poked an infield single against his former mates, raising his batting average to .272.

Giusti, 2-1, retired 13 straight in one stretch while outpitching left-hander Ken Holtzman.

Jackson Hits 2 Homers, Twins Pitcher Woodson

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Reggie Jackson wasn't much of a hitter until...Dave Boswell served up a pair of good pitches, and Dick Woodson a couple of close ones. Then the 6-foot-2, 197-pound outfielder really did his thing.

Boswell's two tosses resulted in a pair of homers by Jackson in Oakland's 6-4 victory over Minnesota Thursday; Woodson's pitches resulted in a black eye for the Twins' hurler, suffered during a brief, but furious, little bout with Jackson on the pitchers' mound.

Jackson, who took only a .146 average into the game, charged to the mound after successive pitches by the flame-throwing Woodson whizzed by and over his head in the fifth inning.

"There was a lot of velocity on those balls," said Jackson. "I was scared.

"The first pitch stunned me. He can throw so fast."

While Jackson was attempting to tackle Woodson, players from both benches streamed into the field in an attempt to separate the two fighters.

Jackson was ejected and Woodson was lifted for a pinch hitter in the bottom of the inning.

In other American League action, young Bobby Murcer hit two more homers as New York trounced Cleveland in 11-3 for the Indians' 12th loss in 13 games and hot Baltimore won its 12th in 15 starts, checking Detroit 5-2 on Dave McNally's five-hitter. Washington's game at Boston was rained out. The other teams were idle.

Jackson said he "didn't want to fight" Woodson. "That's why I tackled him. I wanted to show him I meant business. I had to protect myself.

"If there were 10,000 people here today, 9,999 of them knew he was throwing at me. They wanted me out there and that's what they got. I lost my temper. I would have hit three home runs otherwise."

A's Manager Hank Bauer supported his outfielder.

"I don't blame him," said Bauer. "I would have done the same thing."

Asked if he thought Woodson was throwing at Jackson, Bauer replied, "Definitely."

However, Twins Manager Billy Martin said Woodson "wasn't throwing at him. He was told to pitch him up and in. The first was behind and the second a foot over his head."

Woodson said he tried "to pitch him inside. The first two balls he hit out (off Boswell) were low and away. My cleats caught on the rubber on the first pitch and the second was way over his head. He (Jackson) just lost his head."

Woodson suffered a gash on his right eyelid where he said "Jackson tried to take my eye out with his finger."

Jackson slammed a two-run homer in the first, then had a solo blast in the third. Sal Bando also homered for the A's in the first, while Rick Monday contributed three doubles and two RBI's.

Tony Oliva extended his hitting streak to 12 straight games with a two-run homer off winner "Blue Moon" Odom in the fifth.

Ken Harrelson, who retired then unretired after Boston dealt him to Cleveland, had a triple and a single in his debut as an Indian, but Yankee lefty Fritz Peterson, 2-2, yielded only four other hits.

Harrelson tripled in his first appearance at the plate, scoring on an infield hit by Tony Horton.

Canadiens Defeat Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Rogatien Vachon still doesn't know how he stopped some of the shots the Boston Bruins fired at him Thursday night—but stop them he did, to move the Montreal Canadiens one step closer to another Stanley Cup championship.

"I never saw a couple of those shots," the acrobatic goaltender said after shutting the Bruins out for almost 89 minutes as Montreal came from behind for a 2-1 overtime victory to wrap up the East Division best-of-7 final series 4-2.

The Canadiens earned the right to defend their title in the over-all finals against the St. Louis Blues, starting Sunday in Montreal.

Vachon was forced to make 50 saves—including 22 in the second period alone.

The pressure got fierce in the first sudden death overtime session when the Bruins buzzed around him constantly, but he came up with two big saves on Phil Esposito up close and kicked out a pair of hard shots by Bobby Orr.

Vachon took over the Montreal net-minding midway in the series when Gump Worsley injured a finger. He also was a standout in the Canadiens' 4-2 victory Tuesday in Montreal.

"Vachon coming in like that and playing two big games gave us a real lift," young defenseman Serge Savard said.

Coach Claude Ruel agreed, but he wanted to spread the credit around.

"He played a great game—they all played great games," Ruel said. "Nobody talks about defensemen like Jacques Laperriere and Ted Harris, but these guys knocked themselves out for me.

"Laperriere played one of the greatest games of his life—he must have blocked at least 10 shots, he killed penalties, he was all over the ice. There's a lot more to playing hockey than scoring goals."

The Bruins struck first before 14,659 fans in Boston Garden as Ron Murphy scored on a setup from Esposito at 2:29 of the opening period.

At 1:10 of the third period—just five seconds after Boston's Don Awrey had gone off on a cross checking penalty—Jean Beliveau of Montreal won the face-off and got the puck to Savard, whose long screen shot from the point whistled past Boston goalie Gerry Cheevers.

The teams battled scorlessly from that point until the Canadiens put home the winner at 11:28 of the second overtime period.

Claude Provost stole a pass as Boston's defensemen failed to clear the puck out of their zone, and he set up Beliveau for the winning goal on a 20-foot wrist shot on which Cheevers had no chance.

Cubs Trade Niekro, Ross For Selma

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs obtained pitcher Dick Selma from the San Diego Padres Thursday night for hurlers Joe Niekro and Gary Ross and minor league infielder Francisco Libran of San Antonio.

Selma, 25-year-old right-hander who was the Padres' fourth choice in the National League expansion draft, was 9-10 with an earned run average of 2.75 in 170 innings last year with the New York Mets.

This season with the Padres he is 2-2 with a 4.09 ERA.

North Favored

All-Staters Set To Play In North-South Cage Play

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some of the biggest names in high school basktball converge in Marion June 21 for the annual North-South All-Star Classic.

"We've never had an All-Star game with so many attractions," comanager Dan Baker of Marion Harding High School said Wednesday.

No one is about to seriously challenge Baker on that statement.

Ohio's bumper crop of prep stars should play to a full house in Marion's 3,600-seat Coliseum. College scouts are expected to be out in force in a last ditch bid to recruit whatever talent is left.

Among the 20 players are no less than half a dozen Class AA all - state performers and one Class A All-Ohio.

The North team, which has won three straight and leads the series 6-3, is a strong favorite to capture the summer cage spectacle.

For a starter, Yankee Coaches Bob Rupert of Canton Mckinley and Leigh Klingensmith of Springfield Local, can count on 7-footer Luke Witte of Marlington; 6-7 Nick Weatherspoon of Canton McKinley; 6-1 Dave Merchant of Marion Harding; Abe Steward of Toledo Libbey and Jim Andrews of Lima Bath.

The latter pair were second team AP All-Ohios. Both barely missed making the first squad.

South Coaches Bob Hart of Columbus East and Arch Justus of Portsmouth Clay have their own big guns. These include all-staters Ed Ratleff, the 6-6 hotshot who led Columbus East to the AA championship; prolific Allan Hornyak of Bellaire St. John's, who led the state in scoring with a 42 point average; and Darrek Dickey, the Cincinnati Purcell standout headed for the University of Cincinnati.

The Rebels also boast Nick Conner, Ratleff's teammate at East and rebounder deluxe Willie Townsend of Hamilton Garfield, both of whom were second team all-state selections.

Greene Shoots 66

Boros, Unknowns Lead Byron Nelson Golf Play

DALLAS (AP) — If it were't for Julius Boros, they'd be calling the Byron Nelson Golf Classic the Who's He Open.

Big Julie, the 49-year-old PGA champion was the only name player in the first four going into today's second round of the $100,000 test on the tough, 7,086-yard, par-70 Preston Trial Golf Club course.

Lean Bert Greene had the first-round lead at 66, while Boros, at 67 was tied with Chris Blocker and Bob Menne.

Greene, 25, and Blocker, 29, still are looking for their first pro victory. And Menne, 27, from Andover, Mass., simply is looking to make the cut.

The curly-haired youngster is in his first year on the tour, has made the cut only once, won $447 in the Alameden Open, and failed to qualify in six tournaments. He qualified here with a 70.

"I guess I'm a little new in this league," Menne said after coaxing in a curling nine-foot putt on the final hole for a birdie. He was the last man in the 147-man field off the wind-swept course.

"I started the tour in January," he said, "and I havent't done anything yet. I've missed the cut in the last five or six tournament, and failed to qualify in the others.

"But I'm putting well now and have a better mental attitude."

Greene, now playing out of Fort lauderdale, Fla., is in his third year on the tour, while Blocker is in his fifth year. But they've yet to win. And, with Menne, the trio has a total yearly earning of $8,905, $1,062 by Greene.

A group of six was tied at 69, one under. They included Arnold Palmer, U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino, Australian Bruce Crampton, lefty Bob Charles of New Zealand, Bob Lunn and Orville Moody.

Miller Barber, the defending champion, blew to an 80.

Driver Charged After Auto Hits Pole In East End

A Municipal Court hearing has been continued until Wednesday for a city motorist charged with drunken driving after a mishap on Pennsylvania Ave. early today. The driver was treated at City Hospital for injuries received when his car hit a utility pole.

Police said Bobby Davis, 39, of 1701 Alpha St. was injured after his 1963 sedan apparently went out of control on a curve 45 feet east of Sugar St. about 1:53 a.m.

Davis suffered contusions and abrasions of the right arm, knee and face.

Patrolman David Huffman filed the drunk driving charge against Davis. Judge Samuel M. Chertoff set bond at $500 and ordered the hearing continued after Davis entered not guilty pleas to the drunk driving for failure to have his vehicle under control.

Davis posted $8,000 in property bond.

Hearing Set Monday In 'Resisting' Charge

NEW BRIGHTON — A hearing is scheduled Monday for a New Brighton man charged with resisting arrest and assaulting a state police officer.

Joe Trputec was cited Thursday on Wallace Run Rd. after his car had been halted in a routine traffic violation.

He will appear before Justice of the Peace Milton Richael of West Mayfield. He has been released on $1,000 bond.

Repairs Slated At Taft Building

City school officials are awaiting estimates of the repair of a section of a brick canopy which collapsed at the former Taft School in Maplewood Wednesday.

Supt. Paul Blair said the 15-foot section which fell to the ground close to the new administration building apparently broke away due to mortar decomposition, and slipped as a result of recent rains.

The Potters Construction Co. has been asked to provide an estimate. It may be possible to remove the whole brick canopy, Blair added.

During Annual Meeting

'Steel Still Basic Product,' National Steel Head Says

PITTSBURGH (Special)—The National Steel Corp., despite its expanding aluminum complex, still is going to consider steel its "basic product" into the indefinite future.

"I'VE NEVER felt other than optimistic about the long-term prospects of steel," said Stinson, who recently was elected chairman of the American Iron & Steel Institute.

"We have kept our product inexpensive," he said, claiming that steel price hikes — for all their publicity and their occasional White House shock waves — have lagged the steep pace of inflation. He looks for "massive requirements for steel in the future."

That is, if the rise in imports is stemmed.

Stinson predicts an ultimate "phase-out" of this problem, provided the U.S. government, by means of an import quota, firmly puts Japanese and other foreign producers on notice not to wildly increase steelmaking capacity in hopes of gobbling even more of the American marketplace.

MEANWHILE, Stinson said National Steel expects to begin drawing the first aluminum product off its joint venture smelter in Kentucky before the end of this year.

But he made it clear that there will be no aluminum sheets rolling from the mills in Weirton.

Stinson said the continuous slab casting plant at Weirton has turned out "prime salable material" from the outset and is increasing production monthly.

National Steel announced first quarter earnings of $14,813,901, or 91 cents a share, versus $19,621,973, or $1.21 per share (adjusted) for the same period a year ago.

Sales were down to $286.1 million from $295.2 million a year ago and shipments were 1,579,700 tons against 1,714,000 tons in the '68 period.

Last year's sales were boomed by the inventory buildup in anticipation of a possible summer strike, but this year's sales have been "somewhat better than anyone had anticipated," said Stinson.

He added the second quarter "has the makings of being somewhat better than the first quarter," on account of a continued good level of demand.

National plans capital spending in excess of $100 million this year (following a recent pattern), and repeal of the 7 per cent investment tax credit won't interrupt that program.

2 County Men Fined, Jailed In Route 154 Hit-Skip Case

A Lisbon area driver and a Hanoverton district man were jailed Thursday by County Judge Barry Dickson at East Palestine in connection with a hit-skip mishap on Route 154.

Kelly Howard, 27, of Lisbon RD 3 and William Joe Taylor, 22, of Hanoverton RD 1 were cited in connection with the Incident by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Howard was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail for leaving the scene of an accident. Taylor, a passenger, was jailed for three days and given a suspended $100 fine for obstructing an officer in his duties.

The patrol said the two took Howard's car home after the collision west of Elkton Monday, and returned to the scene in Taylor's car to pick up a bumper which was knocked off Howard's auto.

Ofifcers said they first denied knowledge of the original collision. Howard was found not guilty of a charge of failure to yield half of the highway.

Clarence W. Ganoe, 42, of Lisbon RD 3, charged by the patrol with driving while intoxicated, was fined $250 and costs and jailed for three days. He was cited on Route 30.

Others fined yesterday were John E. Dailey of East Liverpool RD 4, Ronnie J. Ring of Glenmoor and Kenneth L. Jones of 4th Ave., LaCroft, $15 and costs each for speeding, and Margaret Richards of Lisbon RD 4, $20 and costs for speeding.

Kae Lee Smit of Dixonville, $20 and costs for driving left of center; Edward Mullen of Lisbon RD 5 and Brady E. Thompson of East Liverpool RD 1, $10 and costs each for lack of a horn; Donald G. Reed of Campground Rd., Wellsville, $10 and costs for a defective horn.

Clifford Westover Jr. of Lisbon RD 3, $15 and costs for failure to display a slow moving vehicle emblem; William Manley of Dixonville, $10 and costs for an unsafe vehicle, and Leslie Ann Coalmer of Lakeview Estates, Calcutta, $10 and costs for improper passing.

Arthur E. Lewis of Route 30, Chester, was found not guilty of a charge of improper passing.

Discussion Held By Trustees On Illegal Dumping

LISBON — The problem of roadside dumping of trash and garbage was among subjects discussed by the Columbiana County Township Trustees and Clerks Association Wednesday evening at the Village Hall.

Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan told the 40 members his office this week cleared up a complaint that someone dumped about half a load of trash on Metz Rd. in Unity Township.

Names were found on some papers, and deputies went to the home of the family suspected. Given the choice of cleaning up the mess or going to court, the family removed the material, the Sheriff said.

Also discussed was a proposal that township constables be placed under the Sheriff's jurisdiction.

Allan G. Chamberlin of Leetonia RD 2, president, was in charge.

Bowling Green Rejects SDS In Convention Bid

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)— The President's Advisory Council of Bowling Green State University announced today it has voted unanimously to reject any request from Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) to hold their national convention on the campus here.

The council emphasized that no formal request has been made to hold such a session, but that the administration has received "feelers" from local SDS members.

The council said that the stated goals of the SDS "are not consistent with the university's educational goals."

The SDS has met with similar rejections from a number of other colleges.

Some Kiwanians See 'Red' During Lisbon Meeting

LISBON—Kiwanis Club members were victims of a "frame-up" during Thursday's "Ladies Night" program at the First United Methodist Church.

And there were some tense moments for Frank Henry, program chairman.

He introduced a "Russian professor" as a substitute for John Epling, Gallipolis attorney scheduled for a patriotic talk.

The professor, reportedly an acquaintance of Floyd Lower, who has traveled in the Soviet Union, attacked America and its institutions with such vigor that some members walked out.

Henry had to call them back and introduce the speaker as Epling. Kiwanians were enthusiastic about the patriotic talk which followed. Music was furnished by a vocal group from David Anderson High School.

TRW Plant Votes For Independent Union In Election

MINERVA — The Independent Metal Workers Alliance, Inc., outpolled two international unions in balloting Wednesday and Thursday for the right to represent hourly employes at the TRW Metals Division plant.

The MWA received 905 votes—or 79.1 per cent of the ballots of the 1,100 workers over the Laborers International Union of North America (AFL-CIO) and the United Auto Workers affiliated with the Teamsters Brotherhood.

The UAW received 146 votes and the Laborers International 93 votes.

Workers have been in the IMWA since 1959. The voting was supervised by the National Labor Relations Board. With resolving of the union representation, negotiations for a new contract are expected to be resumed.

Junior Editors Quiz on INSECTS

QUESTION: How does life exist in insects, since they have no hearts and circulatory systems?

* * *

ANSWER: In the higher animals, the pumping action of a heart keeps blood circulating, so it can distribute life-giving oxygen from the lungs as well as food materials and can also carry away waste. Our questioner is wrong to suppose that insects do not have some such a system, though it is different from ours in many ways. Insects have simple tubes in the upper part of their bodies which serve them as hearts. The rear parts of these tubes contract or pulsate, forcing the yellowish insect blood out through the head end, from which it circulates through the body. It bathes the tissues and returns to the heart tube through a set of side holes. This blood has little to do with carrying oxygen around the way our blood does. In insect bodies, air comes in through outer openings or spiracles. Oxygen from this is distributed through tiny tubes called trachae. You will have to imagine this little network of tiny branching tubes, as there was no room for them in our drawings. The insects' circulation is much simpler than our own, but then, their bodies are a great deal smaller.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, April 25, the 115th day of 1969. There are 250 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, delegates of 46 nations met in San Francisco to organize the United Nations.

In 1816, the English poet, Lord Byron, left England as a social outcast and was never to return.

In 1898, the United States declared war on Spain.

In 1901, New York became the first state to require auto licenses.

In 1917, China entered World War I against Germany.

In 1945, Benito Mussolini and his mistress escaped from Milan as Allied soldiers converged on the Italian city during World War II.

Also in 1945, U.S. and Soviet troops celebrated together when advance units linked up on a demolished bridge over the Elbe River at Torgau, Germany.

Ten years ago — The St. Lawrence Seaway was opened to shipping.

Five years ago — President Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria received an enthusiastic welcome on his first visit to Moscow.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Grandpa Saves The Day

DEAR HELOISE: When you have a small child visit your home and your dining room chairs are too short for him to get op to the table, here's all you have to do.

Heloise

Tuck your phone book or any other book inside of a pillowcase and wrap the pillowcase around all of the books. Set this in the chair. The pillowcase will keep the books from sliding apart and the child cannot fall.

We have stacked different sizes of books up on our breakfast room chairs for our grandkids and eventually, because they wiggle so, one slides off the other and the child tumbles to the floor. By piling the books inside of the pillowcase, at least they cannot slide.

Be sure and tuck the case under tightly. After all, most of us grandmas and grandpas on retirement pay cannot afford extra high chairs, can we?

Oh, Grandpa, do we love you! That's going to save a lot of people on retirement pay from buying a high chair. Besides, this little highchair trick you have taught us can be lowered or raised to fit the size of the visitor.

May the Lord bless you, sir.

HELOISE.

A Monday morning's drear and bleak—
A grim and mournful blues day;
I move we vote to start the week
At half past ten on Tuesday.

MRS. F. C.

DEAR HELOISE: When that old zipper gets hung on the material, fold the pinched cloth back as far as you can and pin it with a straight pin as close as possible to the place where it is caught.

Then you can pull the zipper whichever way is needed to loosen the material.

By using the pin, instead of trying to hold the caught material with your fingers, you can use two hands to get that old zipper going again.

It works everytime for me!

MRS. N.

DEAR HELOISE: I found a little trick that I would like to pass on to other homemakers.

When the chrome tops on salt shakers get corroded from dampness, just put a light coat of paraffin on the inside of the little tops. Then when slightly hard, take a round toothpick and push the wax through to the outside.

Presto, you have no more trouble with salt sticking to the inside of the tops of your salt shakers.

BLONDIE.

DEAR HELOISE: Have you informal get-togethers, let each one bring his or her TV Dinner or prepared oven dinner.

So simple this way and ALL the load is not on any one person, and lends for more frequent companionship at mealtime.

K. CARROLL.

DEAR HELOIS: Have you ever tried adding about a quarter-cup of bottled lemon juice to the water when you boil shrimp.

It seems to eliminate the odor.

I have even used a piece of lemon peel in the water and it works just as well.

ANN C. COLLINS.

DEAR HELOISE: When preparing our ice bucket for long evenings, I pour an inch of water in the bucket and freeze.

Sure helps to make the ice last longer.

In reverse, to use as a warmer, pour in hot water 'til entire bucket is warmed.

MRS. C. GOODALL.

Hays Joins Plan For Nationwide Emergency Call

WASHINGTON — Rep. Wayne L. Hays, Democrat from Flushing, Ohio, is among 50 members of the House backing legislation providing federal assistance to help states and local governments across the nation establish a nationwide uniform emergency telephone number.

The bill, drawn as an amendment to the Omnibus Crime Bill of 1968, provides matching grants to state agencies or municipal subdivisions to equip and maintain emergency communication centers utilizing the number "911."

Hays said that if the legislation is adopted, the most important advantage to the public would be that an individual who needs police, fire, ambulance or any other emergency service would not have to look up a number regardless of where he was, but could simply dial "911" and a communications center would dispatch to him from the nearest location the emergency service needed.

He said he has been advised that pay telephone booths also can be designed to provide for "911" service without a coin being deposited.

Hays pointd out the uniform emergency telephone number would not replace any number now being used by any emergency service in the nation, but would be in addition to that service which now exists.

During Boy Scout Banquet

2 Receive 'Silver Beaver'

HONORED. Dean Senanefes, left, of Lisbon and Lou Landfried of East Liverpool, center, were presented the coveted Silver Beaver award during Thursday night's Boy Scout banquet at Columbiana. The presentations were made by Donald Theiss of Chester, right, chairman of the Beaver Court of Honor.

COLUMBIANA — Columbiana Council, Boy Scouts of America, presented the Silver Beaver award Thursday night to Lou Landfried of 414 Elizabeth St., East Liverpool, and Dean Senanefes of 579 E. Washington St., Lisbon.

The Silver Beaver is the highest honor a local council can confer on a volunteer scouter.

Approximately 300 attended the annual banquet at South Side School here. More than 70 other awards were presented.

Both recepients of the Silver Beaver began scouting as members of Lisbon Troop 92 and had the same scoutmaster, Charles Roessler of E. Lincoln Way, Lisbon. Landfried earned the Star rank and Senanefes the Eagle rank as Scouts.

Landfried had the honor last night of presenting the commissioner's key to ex-scoutmaster Roessler. Senanefes is scoutmaster of Troop 92.

Landfried, a bar finishing department foreman at the Midland Steel Division of Colt Industries, is training chairman for the Cherokee District — the southern half of Columbiana County plus Chester and Newell —and last weekend assisted in the junior leader training program at Camp McKinley.

A former scoutmaster of East Liverpool Troop 41, he will be scoutmaster of one of council's troops making the Philmont trek in New Mexico this summer. He is a member of the Order of the Arrow, holds the scouters' training key and previously received the district award. He and his wife, the former Mary Seevers of East Liverpool, have two children.

Senanefes is an inspector at the NRM Corp., Columbiana; past president of the Lisbon Lions Club, a volunteer fireman, first - aid instructor and a member of the Greek Orthodox Church in Youngstown.

Besides the coveted Beaver, Senanefes last night received a veteran's award for 25 years in scouting.

Donald Theiss of Chester, chairman of the Beaver Court of Honor who presented the Beavers, cited Senanefes particularly for organizing a Cub pack and Scout troop at the Robert Bycroft School for Retarded Children. "His work with these units brought this council honor and recognition from the national office," Theiss pointed out.

Under Senanefes' leadership,

Premier Of Lebanon Quits Over Arab Guerrilla Issue

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Premier Rashid Karami met today with President Charles Helou and told newsmen afterward Helou had accepted his resignation. He hedged when asked if the president would ask him to form a new Cabinet but he urged that a coalition government be formed.

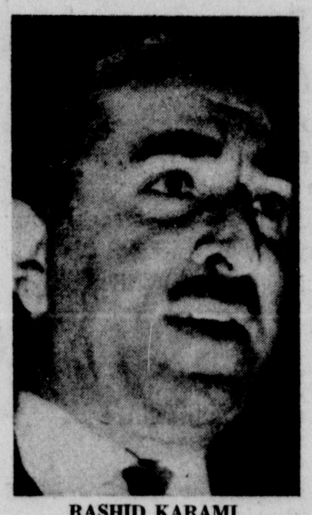
Karami resigned Thursday night after four months in office, saying the country was split over whether Lebanon should become a base for Arab guerrilla action against Israel.

Karami was asked after his visit to Helou if the president would tap him again. He replied:

"The question (of the guerrillas) is now more important than personalities. It concerns the future and fate of the entire country. There must be cooperation between all persons."

With the country tense after two days of rioting in which 16 persons have been killed and nearly 100 wounded, Karami told a special session of Parliament that some persons advised him to give unqualified support to the Palestinian guerrillas. He said others warned such support would provoke Israeli reprisals.

The rioters were mostly Palestinian refugees demanding that the government give full support to the Arab guerrilla organizations which have been raiding Israel. Karami said he had tried to help the guerrillas without endangering Lebanon's security. Despite pressure from the 160,000 refugees in the country, the government generally has tried to avoid involvement in the Arab-Israeli fighting.



RASHID KARAMI
Lebanon Premier Resigns.

The crisis threatened to cause a major split between Lebanon's Moslem and Christian communities, which are roughly equal in size and divided the posts of political leadership according to a detailed formula.

Karami, a 47-year-old Moslem, was serving his eighth term as premier. He took over in January from Abdullah Yafi, who resigned under the storm of protest that followed Israel's attack on the Beirut airport. That attack was made in retaliation for an attack on an Israeli airliner in Athens by Arab commandos who Israel said were based in Lebanon. Since then the government has kept a close watch on the Lebanese-Israeli border and refused to let its territory be used as a base for commando attacks.

Beirut and other major cities were under curfew, and the 15,000-man army patrolled the streets and refugee camps.

Police said 120 persons were under arrest after the riots, and

Sunday Referendum Threatens Him

De Gaulle Hopes New Plea Turns Tide In His Favor

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle makes another radio-television appeal tonight in hopes of reversing the tide of public opinion threatening him with defeat in Sunday's constitutional referendum.

"Advantage to the No's," said the headline on the report of one opinion poll. "Sounding Shows No's in the Lead," said another.

It was the first time since De Gaulle became president in 1958 that pre-election polls indicated he would lose. The unfavorable indicators included two taken by traditional Gaullist optimists—the government and the conservative newspaper Le Figaro.

Figaro gave the opposition 53 per cent but said 34 per cent of the voters were still undecided. De Gaulle's task was to counteract the apathy widespread among that group and bring the unconcerned or undecided out to vote for him.

The official issue in the referendum is establishment of regional governments and removal of what little power the national senate has left. But the 78-year-old general made the vote into another plebiscite on his rule by saying he would quit if the referendum proposals were voted down.

Education-Tax Plan Dropped By Kurfess

Duplicates Move Made By Rhodes

Says $110 Million In 'Unanticipated' Revenue Is Found

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess has officially backed away from the administration's education-tax package with the announcement of "no new taxes" to finance education in the state over the next two years.

Gov. James A. Rhodes made the same move a week ago, abandoning the taxes in the administration proposal introduced just two weeks ago because of public reaction.

"We're cooling it," Rhodes said then.

Kurfess, R-4 Perrysburg, told a news conference Thursday that he felt high priority education items and an expansion of vocational - technical education would not have to be abandoned.

He has said all along that he did not feel it would be necessary to adopt new state taxes for education programs.

Kurfess explained that the House Republican leadership has found roughly $110 million in unanticipated state revenue over the next two years.

He explained that on Feb. 28 the legislative auditor began reviewing general fund balances and last week informed the House leadership that about $75 million will accrue from year end balances over the next two years.

The Speaker also said there will be an additional $35 million available from "markups" in liquor prices.

Under a law passed last session, there can be up to a 35 per cent markup on liquor. At present, the state has a 30 per cent markup.

State Finance Director Howard L. Collier later said the estimated additional amounts of revenue announced by Kurfess "are realistic."

Collier said the freeze on new state employment instituted two months ago and additional austerity measures should provide nearly a $30 million surplus in the general fund at the end of this fiscal year.

Of this surplus, about $5 million a year would remain in the general fund to serve as a cushion against unforeseen economic conditions.

He also said recent revisions in estimated revenue from the sales and use tax should pro-

Mao Remains Party's Head In Red China

TOKYO (AP) — The Chinese Communist party's ninth congress has ended in Peking with no surprises.

Mao Tse-tung continues to reign as party chairman, and his chosen successor, Defense Minister Lin Piao, is still vice chairman with the added designation of Mao's heir.

Some details of the 24-day meeting were broadcast by Radio Peking and the official New China News Agency after the close of the congress Thursday.

It was the first congress since 1956 and lasted about twice as long as the last one. Most of the time apparently was spent reshaping the top echelons of the party, many of whose leaders were purged during the so-called cultural revolution Mao launched in 1966.

Of the 97 members and 99 alternates elected to the party's ruling Central Committee at the 1956 congress, only a handful survived the purge in which President Liu Shao-chi and other "counterrevolutionary revisionists" were ousted.

The ninth congress replaced the old committee with an expanded body studded with military leaders, old and young revolutionaries, and "Proletarian fights."

Mother, 4 Girls Trapped

Family Flees District Fire

BLAZE SCENE. Only the exterior walls remain of a barn-apartment north of Wellsville where Mr. and Mrs. William Jobe and their four daughters escaped a roaring fire early this morning.

Four children and their mother nearly lost their lives early today in a fire which swept a barn-apartment complex about four miles northwest of Wellsville.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jobe and daughters Robin, 12; Billie Jean, 9; Lisa, 8, and Tracy, 2, jumped from the flaming building.

Jobe, 32, said he was lying on a downstairs couch relaxing, because he was due to leave for work at about 3 a.m. when he smelled smoke. He said he started upstairs but found his way blocked by flames.

He then ran outside and shouted to his wife, finally waking her. Mrs. Jobe dropped the four girls from a window for her husband to catch. She then jumped to the ground—a distance of about 15 feet.

FIREMEN said the five just barely escaped with their lives.

The structure is located at the farm of Robert Kountz along Leatherberry Rd. a short distance from Route 39.

Kountz could not give an estimate of the loss. However, he said it cost $21,000 to build the barn in 1949 and he had completely remodeled the apartment which was partially furnished.

A fairly new truck belonging to Grandville DeBarr was parked in the barn. Many pieces of machinery and equipment were destroyed.

Kountz said there were no animals lost, and there was very little hay in the barn.

He said there was some insurance, but not enough to cover the loss.

Wellsville and Highlandtown volunteer fire departments sent two trucks, and more than 30 firemen fought the blaze.

Fire Chief Robert Lewis of Wellsville said the department received the call at 12:56 a.m. Highlandtown firemen said they received the call about that time, and before they left the station they could see the flames.

New York College Remains Closed

Colgate Faculty Building Seized By Negro Students

By The Associated Press

Negro students took over a faculty club building before dawn today at Colgate University. In New York, City College remained closed for most of its 20,000 undergraduates.

Hampton Institute in Virginia was closed "for an indefinite period" by trustees Thursday, as more than a dozen campuses were hit by protests centering on racial and military issues.

About 40 members of the Association of Black Collegians entered the Colgate faculty club building at 4 a.m., the school in Hamilton, N.Y., said. They evicted a cook, her husband and at least two other persons.

Cites Dissatisfaction

A Colgate spokesman said the takeover resulted from dissatisfaction among the Negro students with what they termed administration progress toward setting up a black cultural center on campus.

At City College of New York, Dr. Buell G. Gallagher, the president, set another meeting today with Negro and Puerto Rican students who have barred whites from half the campus.

Gallagher opened negotiations at his campus home—inside the barricades—on Thursday with leaders of the 200 students. No progress was reported.

CCNY's School of Engineering held informal classes today on the unoccupied part of the campus, the first gatherings since Gallagher closed the school—the nation's largest tuition-free school — Tuesday afternoon.

Meanwhile, about 50 white radicals continued their sit-in in Klapper Hall, home of the school of education. A fistfight broke out when 20 conservative students tried to storm the building, but police broke up the fight.

The white students support minority group demands for formation of a separate school of black and Hispanic studies and a new admissions policy to reflect the ethnic makeup of New York's high schools, which are about 40 per cent black and Puerto Rican.

City College has about 4,500 minority-group students among its 20,000 undergraduates. Two-

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — A train wreck, explosions and fire sent about 400 residents fleeing from the community of East Germantown, 8 miles west of Richmond, today.

No injuries were reported immediately.

Sixty-two cars of the 110-car Penn Central freight train stacked up in three separate piles over almost three miles of tracks.

A railroad spokesman said 39 of the cars caught fire.

Grand Jurors Will Be Given Peters Case

LISBON — The morals charge against Arthur Peters, 29, suspended East Liverpool patrolman, will be considered by the Columbiana County Grand Jury.

Judge Louis Tobin of Juvenile Court referred the case to the Grand Jury Thursday afternoon. The April Grand Jury reported April 17. Unless it is recalled, the charge against Peters will go to the September Grand Jury.

Peters had served 10 months of a one-year probationary period when he was suspended March 26 after being charged in Juvenile Court with having sexual intercourse with a minor girl.

Since the girl, now 16, was only 15 at the time of the alleged offense March 6, the case

Would Eliminate 10-Year Period

Sen. Maloney Bill Hits At Delinquent Taxpayers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Michael J. Maloney is attempting to do something about people who do not pay their taxes on time.

Maloney, Cincinnati, Republican and chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee, says "the time has come to crack down on tax delinquences, which are causing higher rates and short - changing the conscientious citizen who pays his taxes on time."

On Thursday, Maloney and Sen. Ralph S. Regula, R - 29 Navarre, sponsored a bill to eliminate from present law a provision allowing taxpayers to pay off delinquenies over a 10 year period.

The sponsors said the provision "serves as a dodge for many" who have no intention of paying the taxes.

The two said if the bill passed, tax rates would be reduced in the long run.

The bill "would stop spiraling delinquency in tax payments that has increased more than 88 per cent to $78,910,391 in the last 11 years and has resulted in responsible taxpayers being penalized for the delinquency of others," Maloney said.

The sponsors said that the 1967 delinquency in real estate, personal property taxes and special assessments totaled about $8 million more than was distributed to local governments.

In other action, the Senate passed two bills to reduce the number of hours worked by policemen and firemen in Ohio cities.

The bill to reduce the statuatory work week for policemen from 48 to 40 hours was adopted 22-6 vote and the bill to reduce the maximum hours firemen can be on duty from 114 to 96 was adopted 22-6.

Both bills now go to the House.

The bills' sponsor, Sen. Harry L. Armstrong, R - 17 Logan, said policemen and firemen from the smaller cities in his district have gone into private industry "not because of their pay, but because of the long hours they work."

The House passed, after 75 minutes of debate, a bill to permit Ohio to join a compact with other states in setting qualifications for teachers. The vote was 64-13.

The same bill was defeated last week by one vote, but was put back on the House Calendar under a rule allowing a legislator who voted on the prevailing side to ask for another vote.

The House sent to the governfor his signature a Senate-passed bill requiring tuberculosis tests for school children. The vote was 77-2.

In the Senate, a bill was introduced to scrap the top priority status of a new legislative office building proposals.

It was introduced by Senate majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Piqua, Senate Minority Leader Charles J. Carney, D - 33 Youngstown, and Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Northfield.

Sponsors said the idea is to get work started on a new state office building for the Ohio Supreme Court and the attorney general's offie, now housed in the Statehouse Annex just east of the Capitol Building.

Sens. Robert J. Corts, R - 13 Elyria, and Howard C. Cook, R-1 Toledo, introduced a bill to create the Ohio Highway and Highway Transportation Research Center.

The center would be constructed with funds provided in the $759 million bond issue which voters approved last November.

Suicide 2nd Greatest Cause Of Death For College Youths

CHICAGO (AP) — Suicide is the second greatest cause of death among college students and the third greatest among youths of high school-age, a Harvard psychiatrist reported today.

Dr. Mathew Ross, an associate professor of psychiatry at Harvard's medical school, said only automobile accidents take the lives of more college students than suicides.

Among youths 15 to 19 years old, auto accidents and cancer are ahead of suicide. And in both groups, Dr. Ross said, the number of suicides has been rising.

Dr. Ross set forth these findings in a paper prepared for the 50th annual session of the American College of Physicians.

"Adolescents of college age are the highest potential suicide risk within the population," he said.

Dr. Ross reported that in 1966 nearly 100,000 college students threatened suicide, one in 10 of these actually tried it and 1,000 succeeded.

The suicide rate for college students is 50 per cent higher than for Americans in general of a comparable age, Dr. Ross said.

"Suicide is recognizable, predictable and preventable," he said.

A feature often found in the background of adolescents who attempted suicide, Dr. Ross said, was "some kind of social isolation, most often a disorganized home or a breakdown of family structure."

Studies also have shown, he said, that "other socially isolating situations for the child arose from a sense of parental rejection, a disruption of a romantic involvement with a boy friend or girl friend, frequent residential shifts, and behavioral conflict with parents."

Everyone has a psychological need to be loved, Dr. Ross said, and running through the lives of suicide-prone youngsters is the feeling of a loss of love or being unloved.

In studying attempted or threatened suicide by children and adolescents, Dr. Ross found the precipitating event for 76 per cent was parental loss or separation or a household move just before the suicidal act.

"Because adolescents are impulsive," Dr. Ross added, "we must take them seriously when they express suicidal intention in any form."

Kiwanians View Film On Aviation

The speed and convenience of private airplane travel was outlined by Joseph Coons for the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

Coons, holder of a pilot license, narrated a 25-minute film depicting four flights — a businessman, a family, a housewife and a student — in everyday travels.

He referred to flying procedures, airport accommodations, insurance coverage and other aspects of operating a private plane.

Leo Lawrence, chairman of the Citizens Committee supporting passage of two city school levy renewals in the May 6 primary, stressed the need for the school funds to maintain the present education levels. He emphasized the issues represent no increases in taxes and are vital to financing school operations and for continuing to obtain state finances.

Carol Winds Up The Season

"We'll shoot the dress rehearsal with all kinds of crazy things going on behind Harvey," said Joe Hamilton, "and then when we shoot the show — nothing. We'll let him sing it straight."

Cecil Smith

"He'll go crazy," said Carol Burnett "which will we show?"

"Whichever is funniest," said Joe.

Carol chortled and clapped her hands in glee and beamed on her handsome, white-haired producer-husband.

WE'RE IN A big third-floor rehearsal hall at CBS and half-a-hundred performers and writers and crew members and others involved in Carol's weekly show are spread across the huge room — some playing cards for pennies, others muching sandwiches, singers limbering their throats around the rehearsal piano, magnificently assembled long-legged dancers in brief rehearsal clothes stretching their handsome bodies over big, red hoppity-hop balls.

"This is the last show of the season," said Carol, "which is always the family show. No guest stars. Just Harvey and Lyle and Vikki and our gang. Everybody does his own thing.

"Harvey's going to sing 'They Call the Wind Maria.' That's where the fun will come in. For one take, we're going to do all kinds of silly things behind him. For the next, when he expects it, we're going to do nothing."

HARVEY is, of course, Harvey Korman, Carol's superb second banana. He wanders over, tall, moon-faced, slimmer than on the screen.

"How's the voice?" asks Carol, straight-faced. "Splendid," says Harvey. He cuts loose with a couple of baritone blasts. "Last show of the season," he murmurs. "Where has the year gone?"

They were assembled for a run-through of "Family Show," which takes the air Monday night.

Cast and crew took places in long lines of folding metal chairs. Hamilton was perched on a high canvas seat, Charlie Pettijohn, the CBS censor, in another beside him. Charlie is a big, rugged-faced man, very agreeable, who does his work diligently but doesn't always agree with what he does ("Tom Smothers is right, you know; we're ages behind the times").

"THIS," whispered Joe, "is a very rough version of the finished show."

I saw nothing rough about it, though performers went through their turns amid catcalls from their cohorts.

Ernie Flatt's splendid corps of dancers whirled through a wild number called "Versatility," ranging from rock to ballet, some of them bouncing across the floor on the hoppity-hops, others bounding on a new kid gadget strapped to the feet called Kangaroo Shoes.

Vikki Lawrence and Lyle Waggoner sang solos, and Carol with dancers and chorus did a number she first performed on her special with Bob Preston about a gawky girl who as a child was always "Nelson" and wanted to be "Jeanette."

ALL SEASON, in her opening monolog, Carol has introduced Ernie Anderson at each show, whether or not he was there. It's developed into a running gag.

Now for the "Family Show" she brought Ernie onstage in a funny turn where he's the "comedian's comedian" and everything he says, no matter how flat or dull, sends the cast into hysterics. The Burnett show will offer six reruns and then be replaced for the summer by a variety show starring Jimmy Rodgers. But Carol and crew will continue working, taping three shows for next season before heading for vacation.

LTV Chairman Challenges U.S. To Speed Antitrust Suit

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Charging that the government is suffering from "anti-conglomoerate mania", the chairman of Ling-Temco-Vought Inc. has challenged the justice department to speed up its antitrust suit against the company.

The justice department is trying to block LTV takeover of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. The Texas-based conglomoerate bought controlling shares of the steel firm for $425 million.

In Pittsburgh for a J&L shareholders meeting, James Ling said he thinks his company will win the antitrust suit and he wants to speed the action so LTV can continue its growth.

"We cannot help but believe that it (the Justice Department) is morally and ethically wrong to perform this legal vivisection experiment," Ling told members of a journalism fraternity Thursday night.

"We also believe — and the great majority of the antitrust section of the American Bar Association agrees with us — that the suit is based on charges that are not violations of the existing legislation," he said.

Ling said LTV's interest in the steel — industry was diversification. He called "simple-minded" an idea that J&L was aquired to be liquidated to provide capital for other interests.

"Perhaps there have been a few instances of companies acquired so their assets can be liquidated," Ling said. "But if LTV wanted money that badly it would have been a damned sight simpler for us to have kept our $425 million and not become embroiled in the problems of the steel industry and the present difficulties growing out of our entry into it."

At the stockholders meeting, where Ling sat silently for two hours on the advise of lawyers, the president of J&L described 1968 as "a most extraordinary one in our 116-year history." W. L. Stephens also said he foresaw favorable factors for 1969.

Pennsylvania School Unit Restates Scholarship Stand

HARRISBURG (AP) — Responding to criticism, the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency has restated its policy of withholding scholarship grants from persons charged with serious crimes.

John D. Killian, legal counsel for the PHEAA, Thursday outlined the policy for members of the ageny's governing board, who listened without comment and proceeded to other business. No board action was taken.

Killian said the policy was not new and that recent criticism apparently was prompted by an anouncement that the State Police would report to the agency the arrest of college students who might be receiving scholarships.

Both the Pennsylvania American Civil Liberties Union and House Democratic Leader K. Leroy Irvis had voiced objections to the policy on grounds that a student's scholarship should not be taken away prior to conviction.

Killian said no student would be "denied an award until he is convicted and his appeal, if any, has been terminated," but that the agency felt suspension of funds was justified whenever charges were pending.

The Harrisburg attorney went on to say that the PHEAA had an appeals committee which was empowered to recommend making exceptions in certain cases, depending on the circumstances.

Killian noted thatt he committee had recommended an award be made in the case of an individual who was convicted of a felony 10 years ago but "whose conduct since has been exemplary."

The ACLU said it objected to "any regulations or legislation which imposed standards for removal of aid which are not considered serious enough by the college to warrant dismissal."

Irvis said he opposed penalizing a student before the student is proved guilty.

An Opportunity AT KSU

The Kent State University KSU student reffing guidance are cast as villians.
erendum turned out to be a vote in favor of restoration of normalcy on the campus.

While the student election was bereft of official status and less than half the KSU population participated, it did serve as a sounding of campus thinking.

Balloting was favorable toward the administration's position on campus violence and rejected reinstatement of the KSU chapter of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS).

Students voiced opposition to the immediate-suspension policy of the university by voting to return to the student conduct code of November 1968 which authorized a hearing before a suspension was handed out.

President Robert I. White explained that the immediate-suspension policy was adopted because the university is required by state law to maintain order.

He agreed there would be less confusion if the student code was amended to make the point clear and said the Student Conduct Committee will be asked to take up the matter.

Too much could be read into the referendum, but its general tone is reassuring in the current wave of campus crises.

Student and faculty voters showed an inclination for an orderly campus and rejected disruptive tactics. Nevertheless, the vote also demonstrated that apathy and wide differences of opinion exist on the campus that could lead to further trouble if not handled properly.

Militancy and confrontation get most of the attention in campus disturbances and too often administrators attempting to do their jobs in protecting the rights of all studens and providing guidance are cast as villains.

Officials at KSU have taken a reasonable stand and must see it through. Their duty is toward orderly change where legitimately needed. It also is their responsibility to find the courage to say "no" to nonissues and enforce campus regulations.

A fine opportunity exists at KSU for students, faculty and administration to bring more light and less heat to the troubled area of campus revolt.

It won't be easy nor free of friction, but if the voice of reason is ever to prevail in a strife-ridden world, it first must be heard on the nation's campuses.

The Silver Beaver

Only those who have been in Boy Scout work for some time can truly appreciate the meaning of the Silver Beaver award presented Thursday night to Lou Landfried of East Liverpool and Dean Senanefes of Lisbon.

One has to have more than just the involvement of a parent interested in his boy, a man willing to do something for young people, a community-minded civic leader fulfilling a goal.

It is these qualifications plus something more, a personal awareness of the need to implement the valuable Boy Scout programs, and a dedication to meeting these needs in just about every possible way one can be called upon to do so. We join with the Boy Scout organization in saluting these latest winners of the treasured Scout honor.

Crime Forces Change

Society's retreat before the advancing forces of crime is taking various forms.

In many U.S. cities, some merchants, who have suffered repeated loss of merchandise to window-breaking thieves, are installing metal screens and gates of the type long used in high-crime areas of New York City.

In Michigan, where a number of young girls and women of one community have been brutally murdered, the women are arming themselves with switchblade knives and tear-gas guns and are venturing forth only in pairs or groups.

IN CINCINNATI, service station operators, alarmed at the number of robberies and slayings at their stations, have gone on record as opposing 24-hour operations.

Following the murder of the third service station attendant in the area within the month, the Greater Cincinnati Gasoline Dealers Association, in a letter to the city's safety director, said the hours after 11 p.m. are nonprofit hours and are a temptation for increased crime. Continuing service station robberies in the Tri-State area only serves to support the truth of the association's statement.

It was further emphasized earlier this week when the gasoline dealers in the Akron area posted a $500 reward for information in the slayings of two attendants killed in service stations in the Akron area.

Although the oil industry controls the service stations' hours of operation, through clauses written into their dealer leases, a further rise in robberies and slayings could force abandonment of the 24-hour-operation policy.

It can only be a matter of time until station attendants will refuse to put their lives on the line every time they go to work.

SOCIETY'S RETREAT from criminals is speeded up in counties like Summit where the sheriff plans to lay off 50 more deputies because of a slash in county funds. He already has released 40 deputies and staff members from his 185-man department.

Faced with inadequate police protection and a growing incidence of robberies and murders, station attendants working alone in outlying areas late at night or in the early morning hours can in no way be blamed for seeking drastic revision of their working hours.

Aquatic Record

Exploration of the deep has advanced another step with the conclusion of Project Tektite which saw four aquanauts set a record for underwater living.

The quartet of aquanauts spent 60 eays in their combination living quarters and laboratory located 42 feet under the Caribbean off St. John Island.

The project was designed to see if a group of men could live and perform meaningful work in isolation beneath the sea.

The men proved it can be done.

The accomplishment is not as spectacular as a space triumph, but it is significant as man tries to tap the riches of the ocean.

A Reasonable Precaution

The decision by five Midwest governors to back intensive monitoring of the Great Lakes as a precaution against pesticide pollution is a reasonable course of action.

Governors of Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Minnesota and Michigan met with representatives of federal pollution-control agencies to develop regional strategy against possible harmful effects of pesticides.

Evidence of the danger of pesticide residue on land and water is growing at an alarming
The controversy expanded to cover the Great Lakes after scientists reported in February that rate.
pesticides were found in fish from the lakes. They pinpointed the source as algaes and plankton covered with insoluble pesticides which are eaten by the fish.

A statement from the governors said: "Available information indicates no demonstrated health hazard in the current pesticide levels in fish."

The move to monitor streams flowing into the lakes to determine the amount and source of accumulating pesticides certainly is in order.

Even though the "present level" of pesticides is not considered dangerous, there definitely is a potential threat in the situation.

In some cases, the pesticide issue may be clouded by "expert" testimony on both sides, but when scientific evidence is available to show that a problem does exist, it cannot be ignored.

The regional approach to the problem is to be commended and Ohio might well consider supporting the program.

Yugoslavia In Uncozy State

Circles rippling from Soviet action in Czechoslovakia are being felt in other parts of the Communist world that are considered by the Kremlin to be out of step.

At the top of the list of mavericks in the Soviet bloc is Yugoslavia. President Tito of Yugoslavia has not been reticent about telling Kremlin leaders what he thinks about their manhandling of such things as sovereignty and independence.

HE DOESN'T FALL in line behind the Soviet position that it has the obligation on defending the "security of the socialist community" by taking over countries leaning toward liberalization.

President Tito roundly denounced the Warsaw Pact invasion of Czechoslovakia and thereby weakened his own position.

Also out of favor in Moscow are Albania, Rumania and, of course, Red China.

Following the invasion of Czechoslovakia, President Tito and Nicolae Ceausescu, Communist party secretary general of Rumania, announced a joint reaffirmation of noninterference principles.

Shortly thereafter, Yugoslavia signed a cooperation with West Germany agreement covering industrial, technical and economic matters.

Yugoslav leaders know their actions are setting off teeth-gnashing sessions in Moscow but they are determined to make a stand.

One Communist party spokesman said: "We felt endangered and we feel endangered. Not so much now, when the Soviet Union is trying to digest Czechoslovakia, but by what will come afterward — especially since there is no sign that the Soviets have changed their long-term goal."

He explained this goal as a "superstate of socialist countries under Soviet leadership."

YUGOSLAVIA is preparing as best it can for whatever may come. Armed forces, including a new citizen corps, have been reorganized for massive partisan-type territorial defense.

President Tito obviously expects Soviet intervention sooner or later. With Czechoslovakia about to be "digested," time may be growing short.

The Yugoslav's ace in the hole is Red Chinese support. If the Bear and the Dragon ever come to an agreement again, Yugoslavia is in deep trouble.

The Balance Of Power

VICTOR RIESEL

SDS May Include Industry

WASHINGTON — The SDS is a many-splintered thing. It's split, but not wide open. Mostly it can be noticed from the inside where the power struggle seethes, as three powerful factions, the Maoist Progressive Labor Party, the Trotskyite Young Socialist Alliance and the traditional Communist youth leaders maneuver for control of delegations to the June convention.

Victor Riesel

There is the fugitive 26-year-old Dave Bishop, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men, who is charged with blowing up four Colorado power lines leading to defense plants. There are the two Communist Party sympathizers, Mike Klonsky, SDS national secretary, and Bernardine Dohrn, interorganization secretary, who want to build a Marxist-Leninist party in coalition with revolutionary black leaders.

And therei s the powerful Maoist Progressive Labor Party bloc, which pushed through the pro-Ho Chi Minh and pro-National Liberation Front resolutions during the final hours of their National Council meeting March 28 to 30.

There's the Young Socialist Alliance, dedicated to Leon Trotsky's permanent world revolution. Strangely, it has its basic and significant strength on the West Coast.

THESE WERE THE competing forces among the 1,000 young people at the National Council meeting in Austin, Texas — about 190 of whom were credentialed delegates. How they actually will line up at the June convention when they will elect new officers, not even the SDS secretariat knows.

But the splintering has not eased revolt on the campus — nor is it slowing the methodical preparation for eventual "revolt" on the industrial front in the factories and shops, the stores and big offices, on the rail lines and in the communication centers of the land.

These young fire-eating leaders can whip up a college riot or a rousing championing of Mao's "struggle-criticism-transformation." But they are realists. They know the shop is not the classroom.

So they are preparing their young people slowly. They're set for another summer of "Work-Ins." They've set up "groups" in many industrial areas — New York, Newark, Princeton, Fordham, Columbia, and Rutgers in the East, others in Michigan and some on the Pacific Coast.

There are regional and group "coordinators." Last year they sent 130 students into the shops, stores and mills in New York, Rochester, Boston, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, Baltimore and Newark. Now the coordinators, operating on the theory that there can be no American revolution without the working class, and war material shipments cannot be halted without this same proletariat, are escalating their infiltration.

THEY KNOW — and they say this to their people — they can't stir the workers of hand and brain into a revolution in one summertime. But they point out that their student SDSers can learn what it means to work, learn what the factory hand thinks, make permanent contacts, offer aid to the rank and file during strikes and demonstrations and lend a hand on research.

Already SDS members have tuned up on critical picket lines. On Tuesday, April 8, they showed at the wildcat line around Chrysler's Sterling Township (Mich.) stamping plant. They helped keep it closed in defiance of the United Auto Workers and the corporation. The Sterling Township installation is a strategic mill to hit. It feeds other Chrysler plants. If it is shut for a while, most of the company must go down.

And so the SDS coordinators' summer Work-In Organizers Manual advises its college people, men and women, to find a summer job in a mill or store with more than 400 employes — preferably General Electric, General Motors, the Penn Central Railroad, or United Airlines.

THE MANUAL SPELLS it all out. Don't use "20 words," it says. Don't hesitate to sign non-Communist or non subversive statements. Generally, don't wear a suit and tie or fancy dress, (no six-inch spike heels), but, "DON'T dress like a slob . . . Don't put on a tough guy act. Use plain simple language and attitude . . . the less said the better."

Or, "Don't start sounding off the first day on the job, or even the first week. Do your work, learn your job.

"Join the bowling league or the baseball team . . . Go to the bar or whatever hangout they go to after work. Don't try to overdo yourself here. If you can't hold your liquor, don't make a fool of yourself trying to be 'one of the boys.' . . .

"Don't talk to workers like you know everything and they know nothing. First of all, it's not true (probably the reverse) . . .

"Your job is to bring across the identity of interests of students and workers, says the Work-In Manual, "the fact that without workers, there would be no universities, that the working class is the class with the power, that without them basic changes in the system can't happen . . .

"Your primary aim will be to work and communicate with the permanent workers in the plant."

At all times, the manual warns the SDS summer Work-In students to keep in touch with "the group." Today, the policy is infiltration and education of activists. Tomorrow, depending on who captures the June convention, the policy may be more explosive, less long-range, more impatient. Shops and plants may crackle like university grounds.

Statements Of Policy

WASHINGTON — Letters from all parts of the country indicate that sentiment is rising against the Nixon administration for its failure to deal with the problem of desegregation or integration in the public schools on the basis of the law of the land rather than the pressures of politics.

Under the last administration, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare issued "guidelines" which sought to do what the Civil Rights Act of 1964 forbade — namely, to use federal power to correct "racial imbalance."

The excuse was that "guidelines" were merely advice and not regulations. Virtually the same attitude now has been adopted by the Nixon administration, which calls the guidelines "statements of policy."

IF THE REASON for this course is that the Negro vote needs to be wooed, it is likely that, unless the present attempts to force "integration" are altered, there will be a much larger "Wallace vote" in 1972 than there was last year. This could help next time to elect a Democrat to the presidency.

The Civil Rights Act of 1964 is the law of the land today. It says:

" 'Desegregation' shall not mean the assignment of students to public schools in order to overcome racial imbalance. . .

"Nothing herein shall empower any official or court of the United States to issue any order seeking to achieve a racial balance in any school by requiring the transportation of pupils or students from one school to another or one school district to another in order to achieve such racial balance."

This same law specifies that any federal department or agency which gives financial assistance to any program or activity must issue a set of "regulations" approved by the President and that these must be "consistent with the achievement of the objectives of the statute."

But "guidelines," instead of "regulations," are being used today as a form of coercion applying not only to the quotas of students from each race suggested for the schools but also to quotas for the assignment of teachers.

Race, rather than ability, is the criterion in many instances in picking a faculty. Thus, the American educational system is facing paradoxically a form of "discrimination in reverse."

Within the last few days, a white teacher filed a damage suit against the board of education in Philadelphia because, it is alleged, a transfer to a predominantly white school was denied him because he is not a Negro. He charges a "studied, willful, deliberate and malicious" violation of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The Supreme Court of the United States has never explicitly rejected a significant opinion handed down in July 1955 by a court composed of two circuit court judges and one district court judge.

It said the Supreme Court had not decided that "the federal courts are to take over or regulate the public schools of the states" or that "the states must mix persons of different races in the schools or must require them to attend schools or must deprive them of the right of choosing the schools they attend."

This means, in effect, that segregation due to natural causes cannot be superseded by compulsory integration. The 1955 court opinion further declares:

"The Constitution, in other words, does not require integration. It merely forbids discrimination. It does not forbid such segregation as occurs as the result of voluntary action. It merely forbids the use of governmental power to enforce segregation."

THERE ARE TO BE SURE, cases in which school boards are trying to maintain segregation through assignment of students within certain school districts on a racial basis. This is a violation of law. Many school boards, on the other hand, are deliberately assigning teachers according to race rather than on the basis of ability and the quality of education they can give.

What's going on behind the scenes in the school districts where racial problems exist is not always revealed because the nature of the "advice" or the interpretation of its own "guidelines" is not always disclosed by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

People are beginning to ask whether political considerations are being regarded by the Nixon administration as more important than the letter of the law.

36 Senators Agree

Arab-Israeli Talks Seen Way To Mideast Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty-six senators said today the only way to lasting peace in the Mideast is through face-to-face Arab-Israeli talks, not from outside big power agreements.

"The parties to the conflict must be parties to the settlement," the senators said in a statement commemorating Israel's 21st anniversary. "We oppose any attempt by outside powers to impose halfway measures not conducive to a permanent peace."

The senators—23 Democrats and 13 Republicans—said that "We deeply regret that Israel's Arab neighbors, after three futile and costly wars, still refuse to negotiate a final peace settlement with Israel."

The statement, drafted by Sens. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., and Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., supports Israel's opposition to the current talks being conducted at the United Nations by the United States, Soviet Union, Britain and France, aimed at finding a settlement to the explosive Mideast situation.

The Arabs, who have expressed interest in the four power talks, insist they will never sit across a conference table with the Israelis until Tel Aviv first withdraws from the territory captured during the 1967 six-day war.

On that point the senators said:

"To ensure direct negotiations and to secure a contractural peace settlement, freely and sincerely signed by the parties themselves, the United States should oppose all pressures upon Israel to withdraw prematurely and unconditionally from any of the territories which Israel now administers."

The senators also deplored "one-sided United Nations resolutions which ignore Arab violations of the cease-fire and which censure Israel's reply and counteraction."

The statement praised Israel for the progress it has made but expressed concern that "the people of Israel are still denied their right to peace and that they must carry heavy defense burdens which divert human and material resources from productive pursuits."

The senators' declaration came a day after the State Department repeated its appeal to both sides to adhere to the cease-fire and House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said the United States would never sell out Israel's interest in the big four talks.

The State Department said Egypt's repudiation of the cease-fire "is retrogressive and can only increase tensions in the area."

Mills Gives Views

Tax Reform Okay Linked To Oil Depletion Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, says passage of a tax reform bill will be almost impossible without some adjustment in the controversial oil depletion allowance.

The Arkansas Democrat told newsmen Thursday, as his committee ended two months of hearings on restructuring the nation's internal revenue code, that the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance was a symbol of tax reform.

The depletion allowance has been criticized by reform advocates as a large loophole, but attempts to modify or junk the exemption have always failed in the past. This was the first time Mills publicly indicated he thought it was necessary to modify the allowance.

Mills said his committee's bill will go beyond Nixon's proposals in this as well as in other areas, although he said he supports Nixon's plan for repealing the 7 per cent investment tax credit and favors eliminating income tax for poverty-level families.

Mills indicated he will go along with extending the income surtax and favors the Nixon plan to cut it from 10 to 5 percent Jan. 1.

Writing of the tax bill will start Tuesday, Mills said, with floor action expected by August. The first order of business will be drafting tighter rules for tax-exempt foundations, he said.

He asked the Treasury officials, who will take part in the closed drafting sessions, to think about establishing a staff to scrutinize more closely than in the past the operation of foundations with tax-exempt status.

Mills' endorsement of repealing the investment tax credit came after he extracted a Nixon administration commitment the on again-off again credit will be ended permanently.

Mills said some way should be sought to reduce the use of tax-free municipal bonds which have been attacked as major tax shelters for corporations and the wealthy. But he suggested the subject is a problem because it is unlikely interest on bonds already issued could be taxed.

Mills proposed developing other ways to aid local governments to raise money so that fewer of the tax-free securities will be issued.

As for Nixon's proposal for a kind of minimum tax to get some additional revenue from people who use legal tax shelters, Mills said he can see the utility of this as a backstop—but he wants to attack the shelters head-on first.

The Interstate Commerce Commission earlier approved a 10 per cent increase on long-distance runs which became effective April 15.

could be handled as a contributing charge in Juvenile Court or referred to the Grand Jury for consideration as statutory rape, a felony.

And by law, the prosecutor's office could refer the case to the Grand Jury as statutory rape whatever the outcome of the contributing charge hearing in Juvenile Court.

At a preliminary hearing Tuesday afternoon when the girl testified about the offense, the defendant and his counsel, Lawrence W. Smith Jr. of East Liverpool, asked Judge Tobin to retain jurisdiction. The judge deferred a decision until yesterday to determine whether the prosecutor intended to take the case to the Grand Jury even if there is a Juvenile Court hearing.

Assistant Prosecutor John B. McDonald said yesterday the prosecutor's office would abide by the court's decision, with the provision that Peters resign from the police force.

Peters refused and Judge Tobin referred the case "upstairs." Judge Tobin had said Tuesday that he did not think it would be fair for Peters to have to stand trial twice for the same act and if there was any chance the prosecutor would take the case to the Grand Jury he (Judge Tobin) would not go any farther with the hearing.

Peters' $1,000 bond was continued. His suspension as a policeman continues until the case is decided.

Near Laotian Border

North Viet Commandos Batter Into Allied Camp

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese commandos moving behind a rolling mortar barrage battered their way into an allied camp near the Laotian border today, with dynamite bombs and hand grenades.

First reports said three American soldiers and four South Vietnamese troops were killed, 12 Americans and 43 South Vietnamese were wounded and at least three armored personnel carriers were destroyed.

The U.S. Command said 30 North Vietnamese soldiers also were killed, raked by 90mm tank guns and .50-caliber machine guns mounted on the personnel carriers.

Attack 300 GIs

The North Vietnamese attacked about 300 soldiers from the U.S. 5th Mechanized Infantry Division and from a South Vietnamese armored cavalry troop who were in night bivouac two miles east of the Laotian border and 19 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

Mortar shells began pouring into the camp about 3:30 a.m., pinning the allied soldiers down. While they were taking cover, the North Vietnamese commandos slipped through. Once in the camp, they began hurling hand grenades and dynamite bombs into the defenders' foxholes and firing bazooka-type rocket grenades that cut through the armored personnel carriers.

Spokesmen said the size of the commando force was initially estimated at 30 men, but it likely was more.

2 More Copters Lost

Two more American helicopters were shot down Thursday near the Laotian border in the northern half of South Vietnam, killing two Americans and wounding four. The weekly summary of aircraft losses reported that 2,562 helicopters had been lost in the war, an increase of 23 since last Friday.

The summary also reported a total of 2,671 fixed-wing aircraft lost, an increase of 15 since last Friday.

More enemy troops were reported withdrawing to South Vietnam's borders as the United States stepped up its air attack witht he heaviest bombing raids of the war.

Military analysts said several enemy battalions that had been poised southwest of the ancient imperial capital of Hue were retreating to bases along the Laotian border. Latest intelligence indicated the troop movements were part of a general withdrawal of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong units to Laotian and Cambodian sanctuaries, the analysts said.

They attributed the withdrawal to serious losses suffered during the Communist command's spring offensive rather than an effort to de-escalate the war. The troop movements also might be in preparation for another offensive, the analysts reported.

Mention Offensive

"Captured documents mention another offensive in the months to come, but nothing firm," one source said. "This could be simply an effort to motivate their own troops."

The U.S. Command claims at least 34,740 enemy troops have been killed during the spring offensive, now nearing the end of its ninth week. Headquarters reported American deaths during the period totaled 2,360, and the number of South Vietnamese government forces killed was put at 2,618.

American B52 bombers continued to pound North Vietnamese 1st and 7th Division troops that were reported earlier to have pulled back to bases along the Cambodian frontier about 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

In the heaviest bombing concentration of the war, the big planes have dumped more than 4,000 tons of bombs since Wednesday night on suspected enemy positions within two miles of that border.

Little Ground Fighting

Little ground fighting was reported, and U.S. headquarters said there were only nine shellings of allied bases and South Vietnamese towns during the night, fewer than usual even during the long lull which preceded the start of the offensive last Feb. 23. Light casualties and damage were reported.

Workmen searching the sand flats east and southeast of Hue found 211 more bodies in mass graves this week. The dead, including two children and eight women, were victims of Viet Cong executioners during fighting for the city in the Tet offensive of February 1968.

So far, 859 bodies have been exhumed from more than a score of trenches uncovered in the area, and searchers expect the total to exceed 1,000. About 1,500 persons were not accounted for after the fighting, and only 150 of the recovered bodies have been identified.

The U.S. Army announced today it had turned over 18 105mm howitzers to the South Vietnamese army in its program to shift more of the war effort to government forces.

The guns belonged to the U.S. 77th Artillery's 6th Battalion, which is being deactivated. The 600 men of the battalion will complete their Vietnam tours with other units or as advisers to the South Vietnamese.

Lawyers Taking First Step In Appeals Open To Sirhan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lawyers take the first step today in the extensive appeals process open to Sirhan Bishara Sirhan.

Judge Herbert V. Walker granted defense attorneys a special hearing to argue for a one-week postponement—to May 21—of their motions for a new trial and Walker's formal sentence on the assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

A seven-man, five-women jury Wednesday condemned the 25-year-old Jordanian Arab to death in the gas chamber for first-degree murder. Walker than set May 14 for a hearing on motions and the sentencing.

A multitude of legal avenues available to Sirhan's defenders could prevent the death penalty or at least postpone it.

His chief defense counsel, Grant B. Cooper, estimated Thursday that an appeal of the conviction and sentence would take at least a year. The trial lasted nearly 16 weeks.

Cooper said his motion for a new trial will be based on three grounds:

—That Walker committed judicial error in rejecting a defense-prosecution agreement before the trial for a guilty plea to first degree murder, with a life sentence.

—That the grand jury which indicted Sirhan did not represent a cross section of the population of Los Angeles County — economically, ethnically or geographically.

—That Sirhan's private notebooks were admitted improperly into evidence since they were seized without a search warrant. In them, Sirhan scrawled repeatedly "RFK must die."

Walker, dean of the criminal bench here, is empowered to reduce the penalty to life.

Cooper and the other defense attorneys served without fee. Cooper originally had announced plans to withdraw if Sirhan was given life imprisonment, leaving an appeal to others.

"I can't withdraw now," he said. "My conscience wouldn't let me."

Meanwhile, Kenneth Hahn, a Los Angeles County supervisor, said the case to date cost taxpayers $910,634. The defense called his figures inflated.

Judge Fines Five Drivers

Five motorists paid penalties in Municipal Court this morning when they appeared for hearings on traffic charges.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff ordered a fine of $20 and costs for Jerry Heiney of 18th St. Heights, Wellsville, charged April 7 with speeding 60-miles-an-hour in a 50 mile zone.

Charles Lucas Jr. of East Liverpool RD 1 was fined $10 and costs for failure to file for registration on a truck he was operating Thursday about 11:30 p.m. on Route 30.

Lonnie E. Kidder of the Y. and O. Rd., was fined $15 and costs for failure to display a slow moving vehicle emblem on the back of a tractor he was driving yesterday about 2:45 p.m. on Park Way.

Jeffery S. Welch of 1880 Anderson Blvd. was fined $10 and costs for driving with a defective muffler system. He was charged yesterday about 2:50 p.m. on Park Way. Liverpool Township Constable Thomas Edgell made the Kidder and Welch arrests.

Michael Ryan of 712 Sophia St. was ordered to pay costs for a charge of driving without a license. He was arrested April 16 by city police at Broadway and St. Clair.

that they were hunting leaders of banned leftist parties who were suspected of inciting violence.

Meanwhile, the Israeli army announced that one of its patrols killed six Egyptian soldiers in a commando group that crossed the Suez Canal early today to raid Israeli positions on the east bank. One Israeli soldier was reported wounded.

It was the fourth reported raid by Egyptian commandos this week, and the most costly to the Egyptians. On Monday, Egyptian raiders killed three Israeli soldiers, wounded three and are believed to have kidnaped another.

De Gaulle

seems to be that many middle-of-the-road Frenchmen no longer believe a whirlwind of confusion and anarchy would follow the old man's departure.

The Communists demonstrated during the student-labor turmoil last year that they aren't militant revolutionaries. The Left appears divided, and De Gaulle's former premier, Georges Pompidou, is regarded by many cautious Frenchmen as a likely and quite capable successor to the general.

No one seems to know why De Gaulle decided he needed a vote of confidence at this time.

His speeches and memoirs tell of various periods in his career, going as far back as 1940, when he felt "I had to ask myself if I must not leave (history)." The most recent occasion was last May 29, during the student-worker crisis, "when I was tempted to leave."

If De Gaulle were defeated Sunday and resigned, Senate President Alain Poher, a centrist, would become interim president. The constitution provides for an election within 20 to 50 days. Any number of candidates could run, and if none got a majority, the two high men would compete in a runoff. The new president would serve a full seven-year term.

In Hampton, Va., about 100 students continued their sit-in in the institute's administration building to demand higher salaries for instructors.

Continue Sit-In

Dr. Jerome H. Holland, president of the Negro school, remained in his office despite the protest.

In Baltimore, police used tear gas early today to break up an unruly crowd of 200 students at Johns Hopkins University, as the students tried to stop police from taking away three students seized in a narcotics raid.

Members of Students for a Democratic Society at the University of Washington seized a building on the Seattle campus, but left when a school official read the criminal trespass law over a bullhorn.

About 70 students tried to block the SDS takeover, but were pushed aside. Someone released swarms of bees from a truck loaded with hives, and 22 persons were treated for stings.

Mishap Causes Dented Trailer, Horse Headache

A horse-sized headache and a dented trailer resulted from the latest barrier mishap on the Chester Bridge, city police report.

The trailer, hauled by a Canadian motorist headed for the Waterford Park race track, struck the 7-foot barrier at the East Livepool end of the span about 3:02 p.m. yesterday.

Patrolman Karl Samples said the auto was driven by Poulin Renee, 28, of Montreal who reported he had not been through East Liverpool before and was talking to a passenger in the car as he approached the bridge.

He said he did not see the signs, flags and dangling ropes which serve as warnings of the barrier erected in 1968 to prevent heavy trucks from using the bridge on which there is a 2½-ton load limit due to weakening cables.

In the trailer was a thoroughbred owned by Delcor White of Royal Oak, Mich., which apparently escaped injury. Renee's 1964 sedan was not damaged, but the trailer was dented, police said.

Does World Bug You?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Does the world bug you?

Are you so perplexed and upset by the chaos around you that you sometimes wonder whether you're in your right mind?

Well, why not find out for yourself whether it's the world that is balmy or you that is batty: It isn't difficult to do. To find ou how normal or abnormal you are, simply take a pencil and piece of paper and answer the following questions:

If you were at the track and found that a certain race was fixed, would you take advantage of he siuaion by being on he horse that was bound to win?

When attending a cocktail party at a neighbor's house, would you like to sneak a kiss from your host's wife if she only had less character and also was younger and prettier?

Now and then when you wake up in the morning do you have an almost irrestible impuse to pull the sheet over your face and stay in bed all day?

Are you convinced that bad luck dogs you and that if you bought 9,999 tickets out of a 10,000-ticket church raffle, the other fellow would take the prize?

Did you used to have the feeling that somebody was following you but now feel that it couldn't be just one person—it must be five or six?

As the years roll on, do you find hat your shoelaces are breaking more often when you're in a hurry and you're spilling more gravy on your neckties?

Does it annoy you to see two young lovers smooching on a park bench, although you know darned well it is none of your business?

When the boss says "hello" to you as you come into the office, do you then sit at your desk until noon wondering morosely what in the devil he's driving at?

Does it seem to you that everything you buy on time wears out or breaks down just before you pay the next to the last installment?

When you trundle your shopping cart through a supermarket, do you have an uneasy feeling that half the women in the place are conspiring to beat you to a place in the line at the checkout counter?

If someone tries to get you into a conservation about the U.S. foreign policy, does a gathering numbness start in your big toe and creep steadily up your body to your ears?

Are you talking to yourself more nowadays—and enjoying it less?

Well, that's the test. Now to the score. If you answered "no" to all these questions, you're in trouble. You probably are being followed by several people—men in white carrying a straitjacket.

But if you said "yes" to each question, you can relax. Your mind is as normal as life can permit it to be.

Your problem is that you are simply getting old and tired and cranky—and faliing apart—just like everybody else.

The DOCTOR Says

The Farm's No Longer Quit

The farm used to be one of the quietest places in the world except at thrashing time. Now the noise from tractors and other modern equipment is so great as to constitute a real threat to hearing.

Dr Brandstadt

E. W. Simpson Jr. of the University of Nebraska placed a specially designed microphone near the ear of a tractor operator. A total of 55 tractors were used in the study and the quitest one gave off 97 decibels while the loudest gave off 114.

Sound levels in excess of 85 decibels over a prolonged period are sufficient to cause a permanent loss of hearing. Other types of farm equipment, including power saw, combine, corn picker, grain elevator and hammer mill, gave off 90 to 113.5 decibels.

Loud noise, long recognized as an environmental problem, is estimated to be doubling every 10 years. Not only has it invaded the farm, the formerly tranquil lake resorts are fast becoming filled with the sound of outboard motors and transistor radios. Avenues of escape are vanishing like the buffalo and the buffalo nickel. Only aroused public opinion can force the application of adequate control measures.

Q — In a recent answer about psoriasis, you advised against excessive bathing. What do you consider excessive? How often should a person bathe?

A — People's bathing requirements vary, depending on how much natural oil is present in their skin and on the nature of their work.

Although a daily bath with soap and water is considered a necessity by many persons, this amount of bathing removes the protective oils from the skin and aggravates such diseases as psoriasis, eczema and ichthyosis. Persons with these diseases may need to bathe no more than every six or seven days. For the average person, under normal conditions, two baths a week in winter and three a week in summer is usually sufficient.

Q—I crave ice all the time. I even take a jar of ice cubes to work with me. Is this harmful?

A—Sucking ice is less likely to chill your stomach than gulping ice cold drinks and should not be harmful. Don't follow the ice too closely with a hot drink or you may crack the enamel of your teeth.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general intrest in future columns.

Plans At Guilford Lake Are Outlined By State

GUILFORD — Approximately 100 crowded the grange hall Thursday night to hear the state's plans for Guilford Lake, where repairs are under way on the dam.

They were informed that the Division of Parks may bring in a dragline to dredge silted bays and marshes and that the fish management division is planning a two-year program to improve fishing.

State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Lisbon introductd Ralph Ramey of the Division of Parks. He screened slides of the lake as it appeared last summer and talked about the possibility of dredging and beautifying some of the areas.

Fish management was represented by Clayton Lakes of Columbus, state fish management supervisor; Ed Bradley of Ravenna, fish supervisor for District 3, including Columbiana County, and Ken Hepler of Highlandtown Lake, fish supervisor in this area. They were introduced by Ralph Drake of Lisbon, Columbiana County game protector.

They said good fish — bass, northern pike, channel catfish, large crappies and bluegills will be taken from the lake by a netting program while the water is down for the dam work. These fish will be placed in a holding pen across the county road from north bay.

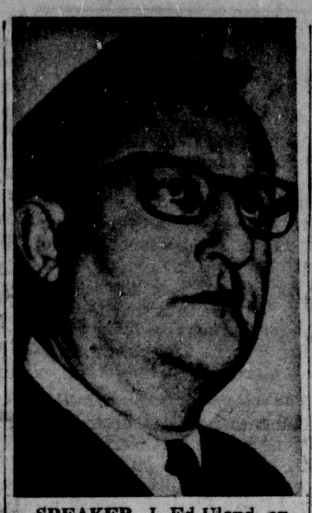
The water remaining in the lake will be treated with Rotenone to kill the remaining fish and they will be removed.

The lake will be stocked after the Rotenone has diluted.

The lake will be closed to fishing until next spring and open then only for the taking of bluegills and crappies.

Charles J. Gause, president, said a house-to-house canvass will be made to determine how many property owners are interested in getting natural gas service. He said 212 inquiries were mailed to property owners, but only 90 returned the questionnaire.

Dean E. Beck, manager of Ohio Edison's Salem area, was present for a discussion of street lights for the lake colony. Center Township trustees also attended.



SPEAKER. J. Ed Uland, executive secretary of the Greater Lorain Chamber of Commerce, will be guest speaker during the dinner meeting of the East Liverpool Area Chamber of Commerce next Wednesday night at the Country Club.

Wellsville Firemen Make 2 Minor Runs

Wellsville firemen extinguished two minor blazes Thursday night within a half-hour.

Chief Robert Lewis said an auto belonging to Emmet Vernon of Anderson Ave., Wellsville, backfired through the carburetor, causing a fire. No estimate was made of the damage to the 1959 vehicle. The call was received at 7:10 p.m.

Meanwhile, children playing in the home of Arnold Hooper of 812 17th St. apparently caused a blaze there.

Firemen said minor damage was done to a bedroom mattress and curtains. The dwelling is owned by the state of Ohio.

The fire was at 7:30.

Contract Let In Road Work

LISBON — Central Allied Equipment, Inc. (Ohio Tar and Asphalt Co.) of Canton will furnish bituminous material for Columbiana County's summer road maintenance program for $193,885.

Its bid, the only one received by the commissioners Thursday, compares with an estimate of $197,754 by County Engineer Bert A. Dawson Jr. The road program totals 221.5 miles.

The commissioners received a 21-name petition for the rededication of Miller Rd. at the junction of state Route 11 "and to install or cause to be installed there a bridge or underpass in order to facilitate traffic and help the undersigned freeholders living in the designated area."

The commissioners in July 1965 vacated the portion of Miller Rd. crossed by Route 11 about a half-mile east of route 164, northeast of Lisbon.

The Ohio Highway Department requested the vacation. Only Ralph Swartz of the highway department attended the public hearing in the commissioners' office.

In a letter enclosing the petition, Edmund Pahanish of Leetonia RD said, "This road is more used than a few others that are bridged around here." He said copies of the petition have been mailed to Rep. Wayne L. Hays, Gov. James A. Rhodes, Sen. Douglas Applegate, P. E. Masheter, Ohio director of highways, and F. C. Turner, director of public roads.

John E. Steiner of Dalton RD 1 was employed as a County Home farmhand at $250 a month, plus room and board.

Newell Firemen Set Annual Drive

Newell firemen will begin their annual house - to - house "maintenance drive" Monday.

The department asks $5 from each resident to assist with the upkeep of the department.

Don McVeigh, chairman, said the money will be used for insurance premiums, lights, heat, gasoline and equipment.

Gene Lytton, a member of the carnival committee, said each organization interested in having a booth during the annual event should contact him immediately.

During a meeting this week, firemen voted to order six so-called "Indian cans" — five-gallon water cans for fighting brush fires. The department already has received three of the devices.

Robert Duncan presided.

Attendant Is Robbed By Two Masked Men

Two masked men robbed an attendant at the Highway Oil Co on Rt. 51, Darlington Township, of $371 in cash Wednesday.

Raymond Stuckley Jr., 18, of Enon Valley, told Pennsylvania state police at Chippewa the two men, with stockings over their heads, robbed him at gunpoint. When last seen, they were headed toward Ohio.

Search For Father, Son In River Resumes

CINCINNATI (AP) — Searchers were to resume their sweep today of the Ohio River for a man and his son who disappeared late Thursday.

Richard Carnes, 36, of suburban California, dived in to save his son, Ross, 7, after the youngster fell from a boat.

Kurfess

vide nearly $55 million over the next two years.

The finance director said "austerity measures would have to remain in effect for the entire biennium in order to make the money available for education."

This would bring in an additional $25 million in unanticipated state revenues and makes the Collier estimate of available state revenue $30 million higher than the Kurfess estimate.

The administration's education-tax bill proposed a 1.25 per cent vender's excise tax to bring in an estimated $264 million over a two year period.

Kurfess indicated that because there will be no new state taxes that the education proposals in the bill will have to be trimmed, but declined to say what specific ones would be abandoned.

Kurfss said the bill to provide a mandatory 1 per cent county income tax, which was written by the Republican leadership in the House, would "not have any impact at the state level."

He said it would simply "restructure" taxes at the local level since the bill requires a reduction in property taxes.

House Democrats did not waste any time in criticizing the "find" of $110 million.

House Minority Leader John C. McDonald, D - 19, Newark, said in a release it is "difficult to reconcile this newly discovered surplus with the administration's statement of three months ago that 'all known and anticipated funds are budgeted'."

McDonald added that either the Republican administration was "deliberately misleading the taxpayers and the General Assembly" or that it is guilty of "sloppy and shoddy money management practices."

McDonald noted that the Republican party has had exclusive control of the state auditor's office since the election of Rhodes to that position in 1952.

Only 11 per cent of the area of Australia, most arid of all the continents, gets more than 40 inches of rain annually; two - thirds gets less than 20 inches.

Sales, Earnings Dip

PITTSBURGH — A drop was shown in sales and earnings for the quarter ended March 31 compared with 1968 in a report by H. K. Porter C.O. Net sales were $71,300,663, compared with $72,069,378 during the like period in 1968, and net income after taxes were $698,095, compared with $832,317.

On the 150th anniversary of the Bill of Rights, Connecticut, Georgia and Massachusetts, which had never taken action on them, ratified the first 10 amendments to the Constitution.

ANN LANDERS

Senile Driver Ban Urged

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Several days ago I bumped into my 84-year-old grandfather who was driving around the business section. He was lost, confused and unable to identify himself by name. He did not recognize me.

I finally persuaded him to let me get in his car and direct him to his home. I almost had a heart attack as I sat beside him. Twice he began to turn into a one-way street. He nearly hit a pedestrian and did not see a stop sign. All this within 15 minutes.

When we reached the house, I went in, took Grandma aside and explained the situation. She became very upset when I suggested that Grandpa should not be driving —that he was endangering not only his life but the lives of others.

Grandma assured me that even though he has occasional lapses of memory, his mind is sharp as a tack.

After much soul searching I sat down and wrote a letter to the chief of public safety. Five days later Grandpa received a letter saying he could no longer drive. The family asked me if I had tipped off the officials and I said yes. Now they're all mad at me. I'm a "traitor" and a "no-good louse."

Will you please tell me if, in your opinion, I did the right thing? — DRUMMED OUT OF THE TRIBE.

Dear Drummed: What you did took enormous courage and I salute you. It's too bad the state in which you live does not have mandatory periodic re-examinations for all drivers over 65.

Get on the backs of your state legislators. The number of senile, half-blind, half-dead drivers in this country would give you the screamin' meemies.

The Honeymooners

Dear Ann: I hope it isn't too late for a man to get in his nickel's worth about those "dead battery" couples who, after 10 years of marriage, go completely dead.

If Myrtle and I wanted an excuse to cut back our sex life we would have some dandies. I work two jobs, a total of 14 hours a day — living proof that physical exhaustion is mostly mental. If a person wants to have enough energy after a hard day's work to make love, he'll manage it.

Myrtle runs after our five kids, takes care of a big house, does the washing, ironing and cooking, plus running errands for the in-laws. She has no outside help and doesn't want any.

But are we too tired for romance? Not on your tintype, Annie! Our batteries are equipped with booster cables called love and respect. Our love life, like wine, gets better with age.

I know I've rambled a lot, so please cut this letter down but don't kill the message. — A HAPPY MAN.

Dear Man: Here's your letter — and the message is very much alive. Thanks for writing.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her incare of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Money For Roads, Streets

$5 Vehicle License Fee Seen Most Popular Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The $5 per vehicle license fee passed by the 107th General Assembly was its most popular effort in the field of permissive taxes.

The tax should make a big difference in the money available for road and street maintenance and construction.

The additional $5 is tacked onto license plate fees in 35 of Ohio's 88 counties and in 13 municipalities.

Fred Rice, registrar at the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles, estimates the tax will produce an additional $20-25 million by next April 15.

Final figures on 1968 tag sales won't be available until an audit is complete but Rice estimates 6.2 million vehicles were licensed for that year.

Rice estimates that income will be about $10 million above the $100,473,000 produced on the sale of 1967 license plates.

The Bureau of Motor Vehicles collects all money on the sale of vehicle licenses and turns it back to local governments for road and street maintenance and construction.

On the basic fee, Rice said the first five per cent is returned to counties equally; the next 47 per cent goes to the county of residence for tag buyers and another 34 per cent goes to the city of residence for buyers.

Where tag buyers live in no city the additional 34 per cent goes to the county.

Nine per cent and five per cent of the total, respectively, is returned to counties and townships on the basis of their road miles.

The extra $5 collected by the 35 counties and 13 municipalities will be returned to those local governments which collected it.

Other tax measures adopted by the 1967 legislature would:

—Permit counties to impose a one-half per cent sales tax in addition to the four per cent state sales tax.

—Permit cities or townships to impose a hotel-motel room tax of up to three per cent.

—Impose a mandatory real estate property transfer tax of one mill and allowed counties to add another three mills to such a tax.

—Allow a two per cent tax on utility bills above the first $5.

No counties are yet collecting the additional sales tax although Cuyahoga, Hamilton, Summit, Miami and Franklin counties have taken steps toward it.

The hotel-motel tax is collected by the cities of Columbus, Riverside, Boston Heights, Beechwood and Cincinnati, as well as by some townships.

No local governments have imposed the utilities tax and only three counties are collecting any portion of the property transfer tax.

Rather Than Bosses, Leaders

Kennedy Cites Rank-File As Best To Reform Party

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said today that rank-and-file Democrats—rather than organizations, leaders or bosses—should have "the greatest possible role" in reforming party procedures.

The Massachusetts Democrat, considered a front runner among his party's possible 1972 presidential candidate, called for statewide referenda or conventions to make the final decision once the reform commission headed by Sen. George S. McGovern reaches its conclusions, which are expected to be guidelines for states to follow.

Kennedy's proposals came in testimony prepared for the first of 16 hearings planned by the McGovern Commission into ways the party can make its nominating procedures more democratic.

Among the 18 witnesses called today also were Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the 1968 Democratic vice presidential candidate and a 1972 presidential possibility, and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, an unsuccessful 1968 White House aspirant.

Kennedy's message appeared different in tack and tone from the statement of former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who sent written remarks because he couldn't attend the meeting.

While he said he has always fought for broader participation in the decision making processes of the party, the main thrust of Humphrey's message was aimed at strengthened organization.

"Local political organizations must continue to be the main gate of the political arena," the 1968 Democratic presidential nominee said. "This must be a prime goal of your commission, your convention and your party. Our actions should be weighed as to their effect on strengthening local party organization."

Kennedy, dwelling more specifically on how reforms should be decided, urged the commission to accelerate its efforts "by requesting from every state party an effective action plan for reform, innovation, experimentation and equal opportunity."

He said the commission also should foster local caucuses, regional seminars and statewide forums to discuss reforms.

Kennedy warned that it "will be of little benefit to anyone" if the convention is dominated by procedural fights over credentials and rules.

Although time is short in many states to secure needed statutory changes, Kennedy said, "the demand for speed should not eliminate popular participation in the choice."

In addition, Kennedy recommended that local party units transform themselves into "a constant living factor in community life" by developing programs to deal with local problems and by acting as ombudsmen to answer the complaints of individual citizens.

Humphrey stressed a strong role for national leadership.

"The national party must carefully exercise its power to demand of state organizations requirements in obtaining new state laws which broaden the selection process and afford better timing for the choice of national convention delegates," Humphrey said.

Laird Denies Bid 4 Ohio GIs Be Returned Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saying all American combat troops must share the hazards of Vietnam equally, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has turned down a request that servicemen from Beallsville, Ohio, be removed from the war zone.

Five servicemen from Beallsville, a town of 500 residents, have died in Vietnam. Four more now are in Vietnam and two others are on assignment to got here.

Rep. Clarence E. Miller, R-Ohio, who had asked Laird personally to remove the other Beallsville area men from the fighting zone, said Thursday Laird had advised him by letter that such action was non consistent with established policy.

Saying in his letter that he deeply regrets that any Amerian serviceman must be sent to face the hazards of Vietnam, Laird added:

"We are also acutely aware of the personal anxiety and concern of the Beallsville residents with respect to their combat losses.

"However, in fairness to all military personnel and their families, the military services closely adhere to the established policy whih provides that overseas assignments, including those in areas of potential combat, must be shared as equitably as practiable by all military personnel consistent with the rank and skill requirements of our overseas units."

Keeps Predicting Inflation Control

Chase Caught In Middle On Soaring Living Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government economist who interprets the consumer price index is having a tough time explaining why living costs keep soaring despite his repeated predictions that control of inflation is just around the corner.

The man most frequently caught in the middle in the inexact science of predicting price behavior is Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics in charge of price reports.

Chase's difficulties, however, pale into insignificance when compared to the potential for political trouble posed by rising living costs for President Nixon.

Nixon made Democratic failure to control of inflation an issue during last fall's campaign. Since he took office in January, prices have risen at an annual rate of 6 per cent, considerably higher than 1968's increase of 4.8 per cent, sharpest yearly jump in 18 years.

Economist Chase began predicting a turnabout six months ago, and he's still forecasting a slow down.

"It is safe to say the peak of the inflationary surge is past," said the optimistic Chase last October—only to see his hopes dashed the very next month by a price increase of six-tenths of one per cent, biggest surge for one month in six years.

Since that unfortunate prediction by the usually cautious Chase, living costs have climbed another 2.7 per cent and clipped another 3.4 cents from the value of the dollar.

"We have turned the corner," said Chase in November—and prices promptly went up another four-tenths of one per cent.

In December prices rose only two-tenths, smallest increase of 1968, but Chase declined to go along with some other economists who predicted a slower rate of inflation in 1969.

He recovered some of his optimism, however, after a rise of three-tenths in January. "There is some slowing down," he said, observing, along with some other federal economists, that the income surtax and other monetary restraints should further slow the pace.

But the price index showed another rise of four-tenths in February. "The effects of the fiscal restraints have been delayed longer than most people expected," Chase explained.

Then, on Thursday, the March report showed an eight-tenths rise in prices—biggest single monthly jump in 18 years.

"The fire will just have to burn itself out and I am confident it will do so," said Chase. "The rate of increase will begin to slow down in the next few months."

Probe Uncovers Complaints On Canceled Auto Insurance

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate probe of the auto insurance industry has resulted in a stream of complaints from car owners, charging their policies were canceled for odd, vague or flimsy reasons—including alleged bad "personal habits."

In one instance a man was denied coverage on grounds he gambled and raised gamecocks.

Another policy was cancelled because: "Your wife's reputation does not meet our underwriting standards."

The Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee will delve into such cases at a public hearing next month, with the centerpiece the troubles of Gerald D. Huey of Strafford, Va.

Huey learned Feb. 19 his policy would not be renewed by Royal Indemnity Co. "because of unfavorable information we have received concerning personal habits within your household."

He got another policy, but it was canceled without explanation.

"Scores of similar cases came to our attention," said subcommittee Chairman Philip A. Hart, D-Mich. Dean E. Sharp, assistant council to the panel, said the complaints are still coming.

Several auto insurance cancellations stirred controversy in recent months. One man, whose home had been visited by an insurance company representative, received a cancellation notice which said "it is alleged that your house is filthy."

A cab driver who lost his policy was told by the company: "The specific reason for refusal cannot be given as it is regarded as confidential."

Another protest comes from a man at Big Stone Gap, Va., whose son was involved in an accident. The other driver was ruled at fault. Both cars were insured by the same company.

The father refused a $100 settlement, and again rejected an offer of $750. Finally, the claim was settled for $1,500.

Then, on Jan. 4, 1968, this notice arrived: "Your automobile insurance is being terminated because of your lack of cooperation and assistance in settlement of your claim . . ."

A Bowie, Md., man who said he paid more than $650 in premiums to an insurance company over seven years told of being threatened with cancellation after he filed two claims totaling $43.53.

While reasons for cancellation vary, investigators have found many are issued after a company receives reports about the reputation or habits of a driver or his family.

Sharp said the subcommittee has no national figures on the cancellation rate.

At an earlier hearing, the committee got an accounting of appeals to the insurance commission in South Carolina. That agency ruled the reasons for cancellation valid in only 55 cases out of 244 appeals it received over a 23-month period.

East Liverpool's Bernie Allen is just one of many Tri-State players on major league baseball rosters.

Few are hitting as well as Allen right now, who was at .389 after a 3-for-3 game Wednesday raised his season's mark to 7 for 18, including four doubles.

One who is hitting better is another Allen, Harold. Bernie's Washington teammate, who is slugging the ball at a .393 clip. Harold, along with his famous brother Richie of the Philadelphia Phillies, is from Wampm, Pa.

In addition to the two Allens, the Senators have Jim French, a native of Warren, and Ed Stroud, who also lives in Warren now.

THE PIRATES, as might be expected, have the most area products. Best known is Tiltonsville's Bill Mazeroski, who now resides in Greensburgh. Bruce Dal Canton of Califorina, Pa. still live near their native areas. Gary Kolb and Willie Stargell now make their permanent homes in Pittsburgh.

One of the more recent additions of area players to the big league scene is Rollie Fingers of Oakland, a Steubenville native who moved to California at the age of 8. Mike Hershberger of the A's is from Massillon. Another Massillon product is Joe Sparma of the Tigers.

The Angels list Tom Satriano of Pittsburgh, the White Sox have Gary Peters of Grove City and Bob Priddy of Pittsburgh and the Yankees Joe Verbanio of Washington, Pa., Gene Michael of Kent and Bill Robinson of McKeesport.

Brothers Phil Niekro of the Braves and Joe Niekro of the Cubs come from the Martins Ferry area. Phil was born in Blaine and Joe was born in Martins Ferry and now lives in Lansing. The Braves also have New Brighton's Tito Francona, while the Cubs list Glen Beckert of Pittsburgh and Gary Ross of McKeesport.

The Dodgers have Andy Kosco of Struthers, who formerly was with the Twins and Yankees, Paul Popovich, ex-WVU star from Flemington, W. Va. There were several other area players on spring rosters who failed to stick into the regular season, including former Angel Paul Schaal from Pittsburgh.

THE NCAA has made a good move in splitting its members into three divisions for football statistics and championships. The number of schools in the university division will remain the same—114. But the 155 smallest schools of the college division will now be in a division by themseleves, with the revised college division to have 174 teams. This means schools such as Wittenberg and Fairmont will not have to compete with huge "small colleges" such as Los Angeles State and San Diego State. The Ohio High School Athletic Association could learn from the NCAA'S move.

Montgomery Tops W. Beaver

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Swinging with the take sign on, Randy McVay belted a grand-slam home run in the first inning to propel East Liverpool to an 8-0 win over Western Beaver at the Colt Field Thursday afternoon.

Bill Montgomery was the winning pitcher, yielding only one hit in four innings. McVay pitched three innings of hitless relief.

The Potters, winning their fifth in seven starts, routed Eli Rakas with a six-run first inning. Kim Kemple singled to start the rally and Dan Cunningham doubled him to third. The wind blew Montgomery's pop fly out of reach of the Western fielders in short left and Kemple scored. Tom Chambers walked to load the bases.

Coah Jim Potts singled Cunningham to steal home against the left-handed Rakas, and had the take sign on to McVay. But the sophomore third baseman missed the sign and swung, nearly hitting Cunningham, who arrived at home about the same time as the pitch. The ball sailed over the left-field fence just inside the foul pole for a grand slam. Later in the inning Jim Massey singled and Marv Schell walked. Both moved up on a wild pitch and Massey scored on another wild pitch. Schell attempted to come home on a wild throw, but was cut down at the plate.

Joe Pillar held the Potters scoreless for two innings, though Montgomery was out at home after he doubled and tried to score from second on an infield error.

John Petchell was touched for two runs in the fourth without a ball being hit out of the infield. Kemple walked and stole second. Cunningham hit to shortstop Don Traylor, who looked Kemple back, but was too late to get Cunningham. A wild pitch moved the runners up and Montgomery's grounder to second scored Kemple. Traylor again hesitated on a bill hit by Chambers and Cunningham scored. Cunningham got his second double of the day leading off the seventh against Traylor, the fourth pitcher employed by Mike Hornick, but died on second.

The only baserunner against Montgomery was Dave McCreery, whose line-drive single to center was just out of the reach of a diving Cunningham. Montgomery effectively mixed his fast ball, curve and off-speed pitches, fanning eight. His control was excellent, as he went to three balls only on one hitter. McVay, though not quite as sharp, was more than good enough to stifle the Golden Beaver bats. The losters are now 2-5.

Jackson Hits 2 Homers, Twins Pitcher Woodson

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Reggie Jackson wasn't much of a hitter until...Dave Boswell served up a pair of good pitches, and Dick Woodson a couple of close ones. Then the 6-foot-2, 197-pound outfielder really did his thing.

Boswell's two tosses resulted in a pair of homers by Jackson in Oakland's 6-4 victory over Minnesota Thursday; Woodson's pitches resulted in a black eye for the Twins' hurler, suffered during a brief, but furious, little bout with Jackson on the pitchers' mound.

Jackson, who took only a .146 average into the game, charged to the mound after successive pitches by the flame-throwing Woodson whizzed by and over his head in the fifth inning.

"There was a lot of velocity on those balls," said Jackson. "I was scared.

"The first pitch stunned me. He can throw so fast."

While Jackson was attempting to tackle Woodson, players from both benches streamed into the field in an attempt to separate the two fighters.

Jackson was ejected and Woodson was lifted for a pinch hitter in the bottom of the inning.

In other American League action, young Bobby Murcer hit two more homers as New York trounced Cleveland in 11-3 for the Indians' 12th loss in 13 games and hot Baltimore won its 12th in 15 starts, checking Detroit 5-2 on Dave McNally's five-hitter. Washington's game at Boston was rained out. The other teams were idle.

Jackson said he "didn't want to fight" Woodson. "That's why I tackled him. I wanted to show him I meant business. I had to protect myself.

"If there were 10,000 people here today, 9,999 of them knew he was throwing at me. They wanted me out there and that's what they got. I lost my temper. I would have hit three home runs otherwise."

A's Manager Hank Bauer supported his outfielder.

"I don't blame him," said Bauer. "I would have done the same thing."

Asked if he thought Woodson was throwing at Jackson, Bauer replied, "Definitely."

However, Twins Manager Billy Martin said Woodson "wasn't throwing at him. He was told to pitch him up and in. The first was behind and the second a foot over his head."

Woodson said he tried "to pitch him inside. The first two balls he hit out (off Boswell) were low and away. My cleats caught on the rubber on the first pitch and the second was way over his head. He (Jackson) just lost his head."

Woodson suffered a gash on his right eyelid where he said "Jackson tried to take my eye out with his finger."

Jackson slammed a two-run homer in the first, then had a solo blast in the third. Sal Bando also homered for the A's in the first, while Rick Monday contributed three doubles and two RBI's.

Tony Oliva extended his hitting streak to 12 straight games with a two-run homer off winner "Blue Moon" Odom in the fifth.

Ken Harrelson, who retired then unretired after Boston dealt him to Cleveland, had a triple and a single in his debut as an Indian, but Yankee lefty Fritz Peterson, 2-2, yielded only four other hits.

Harrelson tripled in his first appearance at the plate, scoring on an infield hit by Tony Horton.

Padres Win 4-1

Astros Deck Colbert, Colbert Decks Astros

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Last October, the Houston Astros decided Nate Colbert couldn't help them. Six months later, they figured he couldn't hurt them either.

Colbert took the first brush-off in stride, but he wasn't about to take another lying down.

The rookie infielder, a former Houston prospect landed by San Diego in the October expansion draft, confounded the Astros' strategy and tactics Thursday night and beat them 4-1 with his first major league homer, a three-run eighth inning wallop.

After Tony Gonzalez doubled with two out in the Padres' eighth, Houston reliever Jack Billingham walked Ollie Brown intentionally to get at Colbert—then flattened him with an inside pitch.

Colbert picked himself up and tagged the next pitch 420 feet into the left center field bleachers, breaking a 1-1 deadlock. The homer was the first hit off Billingham in 58 games, including 50 with Los Angeles last season.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati edged Los Angeles 8-7, San Francisco topped Atlanta 5-1, St. Louis edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2 and Philadelphia rapped Montreal 7-1. Pittsburgh was rained out at New York.

"It was real nice hitting that homer, especially after they knocked me down so many times," Colbert, whose blast sent the Astros reeling to their eighth loss in the last nine games. "I don't know what it is, but they knocked me down twice tonight and they did it three times last night."

Colbert, who appeared in 19 games with the Astros three years ago and got into 20 more last season, batting .133 overall, has had hands broken twice by tight pitches in the minors.

"They're trying to pitch me inside," he said. "I used to chase a lot of bad balls, but I think it's the hands. One or two times might be an accident. But I don't like to get thrown at. I don't think anybody does."

Colbert, who started the night with one RBI in 12 games, also poked an infield single against his former mates, raising his batting average to .272.

Giusti, 2-1, retired 13 straight in one stretch while outpitching left-hander Ken Holtzman.

Canadiens Defeat Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Rogatien Vachon still doesn't know how he stopped some of the shots the Boston Bruins fired at him Thursday night—but stop them he did, to move the Montreal Canadiens one step closer to another Stanley Cup championship.

"I never saw a couple of those shots," the acrobatic goaltender said after shutting the Bruins out for almost 89 minutes as Montreal came from behind for a 2-1 overtime victory to wrap up the East Division best-of-7 final series 4-2.

The Canadiens earned the right to defend their title in the over-all finals against the St. Louis Blues, starting Sunday in Montreal.

Vachon was forced to make 50 saves—including 22 in the second period alone.

The pressure got fierce in the first sudden death overtime session when the Bruins buzzed around him constantly, but he came up with two big saves on Phil Esposito up close and kicked out a pair of hard shots by Bobby Orr.

Vachon took over the Montreal net-minding midway in the series when Gump Worsley injured a finger. He also was a standout in the Canadiens' 4-2 victory Tuesday in Montreal.

"Vachon coming in like that and playing two big games gave us a real lift," young defenseman Serge Savard said.

Coach Claude Ruel agreed, but he wanted to spread the credit around.

"He played a great game—they all played great games," Ruel said. "Nobody talks about defensemen like Jacques Laperriere and Ted Harris, but these guys knocked themselves out for me.

"Laperriere played one of the greatest games of his life—he must have blocked at least 10 shots, he killed penalties, he was all over the ice. There's a lot more to playing hockey than scoring goals."

The Bruins struck first before 14,659 fans in Boston Garden as Ron Murphy scored on a setup from Esposito at 2:29 of the opening period.

At 1:10 of the third period—just five seconds after Boston's Don Awrey had gone off on a cross checking penalty—Jean Beliveau of Montreal won the face-off and got the puck to Savard, whose long screen shot from the point whistled past Boston goalie Gerry Cheevers.

The teams battled scorlessly from that point until the Canadiens put home the winner at 11:28 of the second overtime period.

Claude Provost stole a pass as Boston's defensemen failed to clear the puck out of their zone, and he set up Beliveau for the winning goal on a 20-foot wrist shot on which Cheevers had no chance.

Cubs Trade Niekro, Ross For Selma

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs obtained pitcher Dick Selma from the San Diego Padres Thursday night for hurlers Joe Niekro and Gary Ross and minor league infielder Francisco Libran of San Antonio.

Selma, 25-year-old right-hander who was the Padres' fourth choice in the National League expansion draft, was 9-10 with an earned run average of 2.75 in 170 innings last year with the New York Mets.

This season with the Padres he is 2-2 with a 4.09 ERA.

North Favored

All-Staters Set To Play In North-South Cage Play

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some of the biggest names in high school basktball converge in Marion June 21 for the annual North-South All-Star Classic.

"We've never had an All-Star game with so many attractions," comanager Dan Baker of Marion Harding High School said Wednesday.

No one is about to seriously challenge Baker on that statement.

Ohio's bumper crop of prep stars should play to a full house in Marion's 3,600-seat Coliseum. College scouts are expected to be out in force in a last ditch bid to recruit whatever talent is left.

Among the 20 players are no less than half a dozen Class AA all - state performers and one Class A All-Ohio.

The North team, which has won three straight and leads the series 6-3, is a strong favorite to capture the summer cage spectacle.

For a starter, Yankee Coaches Bob Rupert of Canton Mckinley and Leigh Klingensmith of Springfield Local, can count on 7-footer Luke Witte of Marlington; 6-7 Nick Weatherspoon of Canton McKinley; 6-1 Dave Merchant of Marion Harding; Abe Steward of Toledo Libbey and Jim Andrews of Lima Bath.

The latter pair were second team AP All-Ohios. Both barely missed making the first squad.

South Coaches Bob Hart of Columbus East and Arch Justus of Portsmouth Clay have their own big guns. These include all-staters Ed Ratleff, the 6-6 hotshot who led Columbus East to the AA championship; prolific Allan Hornyak of Bellaire St. John's, who led the state in scoring with a 42 point average; and Darrek Dickey, the Cincinnati Purcell standout headed for the University of Cincinnati.

The Rebels also boast Nick Conner, Ratleff's teammate at East and rebounder deluxe Willie Townsend of Hamilton Garfield, both of whom were second team all-state selections.

Greene Shoots 66

Boros, Unknowns Lead Byron Nelson Golf Play

DALLAS (AP) — If it were't for Julius Boros, they'd be calling the Byron Nelson Golf Classic the Who's He Open.

Big Julie, the 49-year-old PGA champion was the only name player in the first four going into today's second round of the $100,000 test on the tough, 7,086-yard, par-70 Preston Trial Golf Club course.

Lean Bert Greene had the first-round lead at 66, while Boros, at 67 was tied with Chris Blocker and Bob Menne.

Greene, 25, and Blocker, 29, still are looking for their first pro victory. And Menne, 27, from Andover, Mass., simply is looking to make the cut.

The curly-haired youngster is in his first year on the tour, has made the cut only once, won $447 in the Alameden Open, and failed to qualify in six tournaments. He qualified here with a 70.

"I guess I'm a little new in this league," Menne said after coaxing in a curling nine-foot putt on the final hole for a birdie. He was the last man in the 147-man field off the wind-swept course.

"I started the tour in January," he said, "and I havent't done anything yet. I've missed the cut in the last five or six tournament, and failed to qualify in the others.

"But I'm putting well now and have a better mental attitude."

Greene, now playing out of Fort lauderdale, Fla., is in his third year on the tour, while Blocker is in his fifth year. But they've yet to win. And, with Menne, the trio has a total yearly earning of $8,905, $1,062 by Greene.

A group of six was tied at 69, one under. They included Arnold Palmer, U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino, Australian Bruce Crampton, lefty Bob Charles of New Zealand, Bob Lunn and Orville Moody.

Miller Barber, the defending champion, blew to an 80.

During Annual Meeting

'Steel Still Basic Product,' National Steel Head Says

PITTSBURGH (Special)—The National Steel Corp., despite its expanding aluminum complex, still is going to consider steel its "basic product" into the indefinite future.

So declared George A. Stinson, president of the company, during the annual meeting in the Grant Building here.

"I'VE NEVER felt other than optimistic about the long-term prospects of steel," said Stinson, who recently was elected chairman of the American Iron & Steel Institute.

"We have kept our product inexpensive," he said, claiming that steel price hikes — for all their publicity and their occasional White House shock waves — have lagged the steep pace of inflation. He looks for "massive requirements for steel in the future."

That is, if the rise in imports is stemmed.

Stinson predicts an ultimate "phase-out" of this problem, provided the U.S. government, by means of an import quota, firmly puts Japanese and other foreign producers on notice not to wildly increase steelmaking capacity in hopes of gobbling even more of the American marketplace.

MEANWHILE, Stinson said National Steel expects to begin drawing the first aluminum product off its joint venture smelter in Kentucky before the end of this year.

But he made it clear that there will be no aluminum sheets rolling from the mills in Weirton.

Stinson said the continuous slab casting plant at Weirton has turned out "prime salable material" from the outset and is increasing production monthly.

National Steel announced first quarter earnings of $14,813,901, or 91 cents a share, versus $19,621,973, or $1.21 per share (adjusted) for the same period a year ago.

Sales were down to $286.1 million from $295.2 million a year ago and shipments were 1,579,700 tons against 1,714,000 tons in the '68 period.

Last year's sales were boomed by the inventory buildup in anticipation of a possible summer strike, but this year's sales have been "somewhat better than anyone had anticipated," said Stinson.

He added the second quarter "has the makings of being somewhat better than the first quarter," on account of a continued good level of demand.

National plans capital spending in excess of $100 million this year (following a recent pattern), and repeal of the 7 per cent investment tax credit won't interrupt that program.

2 County Men Fined, Jailed In Route 154 Hit-Skip Case

A Lisbon area driver and a Hanoverton district man were jailed Thursday by County Judge Barry Dickson at East Palestine in connection with a hit-skip mishap on Route 154.

Kelly Howard, 27, of Lisbon RD 3 and William Joe Taylor, 22, of Hanoverton RD 1 were cited in connection with the incident by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Howard was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail for leaving the scene of an accident. Taylor, a passenger, was jailed for three days and given a suspended $100 fine for obstructing an officer in his duties.

The patrol said the two took Howard's car home after the collision west of Elkton Monday, and returned to the scene in Taylor's car to pick up a bumper which was knocked off Howard's auto.

Ofifcers said they first denied knowledge of the original collision. Howard was found not guilty of a charge of failure to yield half of the highway.

Clarence W. Ganoe, 42, of Lisbon RD 3, charged by the patrol with driving while intoxicated, was fined $250 and costs and jailed for three days. He was cited on Route 30.

Others fined yesterday were John E. Dailey of East Liverpool RD 4, Ronnie J. Ring of Glenmoor and Kenneth L. Jones of 4th Ave., LaCroft, $15 and costs each for speeding, and Margaret Richards of Lisbon RD 4, $20 and costs for speeding.

Kae Lee Smit of Dixonville, $20 and costs for driving left of center; Edward Mullen of Lisbon RD 5 and Brady E. Thompson of East Liverpool RD 1, $10 and costs each for lack of a horn; Donald G. Reed of Campground Rd., Wellsville, $10 and costs for a defective horn.

Clifford Westover Jr. of Lisbon RD 3, $15 and costs for failure to display a slow moving vehicle emblem; William Manley of Dixonville, $10 and costs for an unsafe vehicle, and Leslie Ann Coalmer of Lakeview Estates, Calcutta, $10 and costs for improper passing.

Arthur E. Lewis of Route 30, Chester, was found not guilty of a charge of improper passing.

Discussion Held By Trustees On Illegal Dumping

LISBON — The problem of roadside dumping of trash and garbage was among subjects discussed by the Columbiana County Township Trustees and Clerks Association Wednesday evening at the Village Hall.

Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan told the 40 members his office this week cleared up a complaint that someone dumped about half a load of trash on Metz Rd. in Unity Township.

Names were found on some papers, and deputies went to the home of the family suspected. Given the choice of cleaning up the mess or going to court, the family removed the material, the Sheriff said.

Also discussed was a proposal that township constables be placed under the Sheriff's jurisdiction.

Allan G. Chamberlin of Leetonia RD 2, president, was in charge.

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. reports its world-wide sales in the first quarter of 1969 were a record $6.5 billion, 21 per cent above sales of $5.4 billion in the same period last year.

GM reports its earnings in the first quarter were $523 million, an increase of 25 per cent over $419 million earned in the first quarter of 1968.

Chrysler Corp. and Ford Motor Co. previously reported their earnings had declined over the first quarter a year ago.

Earnings per share of GM common stock were $1.82, compared with $1.46 per share in the first quarter a year ago.

Driver Charged After Auto Hits Pole In East End

A Municipal Court hearing has been continued until Wednesday for a city motorist charged with drunken driving after a mishap on Pennsylvania Ave. early today. The driver was treated at City Hospital for injuries received when his car hit a utility pole.

Police said Bobby Davis, 39, of 1701 Alpha St. was injured after his 1963 sedan apparently went out of control on a curve 45 feet east of Sugar St. about 1:53 a.m.

Davis suffered contusions and abrasions of the right arm, knee and face.

Patrolman David Huffman filed the drunk driving charge against Davis. Judge Samuel M. Chertoff set bond at $500 and ordered the hearing continued after Davis entered not guilty pleas to the drunk driving for failure to have his vehicle under control.

Davis posted $8,000 in property bond.

May, June Draft Call Will Drop In W.Va.

CHARLESTON (AP) — Fewer West Virginians will be called by the draft in May and June than were for the three months previous, state Selective Service Director, Brig. Gen. Jack W. Blair said Thursday.

Hearing Set Monday In 'Resisting' Charge

NEW BRIGHTON — A hearing is scheduled Monday for a New Brighton man charged with resisting arrest and assaulting a state police officer.

Joe Trputec was cited Thursday on Wallace Run Rd. after his car had been halted in a routine traffic violation.

He will appear before Justice of the Peace Milton Richael of West Mayfield. He has been released on $1,000 bond.

Repairs Slated At Taft Building

City school officials are awaiting estimates of the repair of a section of a brick canopy which collapsed at the former Taft School in Maplewood Wednesday.

Supt. Paul Blair said the 15-foot section which fell to the ground close to the new administration building apparently broke away due to mortar decomposition, and slipped as a result of recent rains.

The Potters Construction Co. has been asked to provide an estimate. It may be possible to remove the whole brick canopy, Blair added.

Bowling Green Rejects SDS In Convention Bid

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)— The President's Advisory Council of Bowling Green State University announced today it has voted unanimously to reject any request from Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) to hold their national convention on the campus here.

The council emphasized that no formal request has been made to hold such a session, but that the administration has received "feelers" from local SDS members.

The council said that the stated goals of the SDS "are not consistent with the university's educational goals."

The SDS has met with similar rejections from a number of other colleges.

Some Kiwanians See 'Red' During Lisbon Meeting

LISBON—Kiwanis Club members were victims of a "frame-up" during Thursday's "Ladies Night" program at the First United Methodist Church.

And there were some tense moments for Frank Henry, program chairman.

He introduced a "Russian professor" as a substitute for John Epling, Gallipolis attorney scheduled for a patriotic talk.

The professor, reportedly an acquaintance of Floyd Lower, who has traveled in the Soviet Union, attacked America and its institutions with such vigor that some members walked out.

Henry had to call them back and introduce the speaker as Epling. Kiwanians were enthusiastic about the patriotic talk which followed. Music was furnished by a vocal group from David Anderson High School.

TRW Plant Votes For Independent Union In Election

MINERVA — The Independent Metal Workers Alliance, Inc., outpolled two international unions in balloting Wednesday and Thursday for the right to represent hourly employes at the TRW Metals Division plant.

The MWA received 905 votes—or 79.1 per cent of the ballots of the 1,100 workers over the Laborers International Union of North America (AFL-CIO) and the United Auto Workers affiliated with the Teamsters Brotherhood.

The UAW received 146 votes and the Laborers International 93 votes.

Workers have been in the IMWA since 1959. The voting was supervised by the National Labor Relations Board. With resolving of the union representation, negotiations for a new contract are expected to be resumed.

Junior Editors Quiz on INSECTS

QUESTION: How does life exist in insects, since they have no hearts and circulatory systems?

* * *

ANSWER: In the higher animals, the pumping action of a heart keeps blood circulating, so it can distribute life-giving oxygen from the lungs as well as food materials and can also carry away waste. Our questioner is wrong to suppose that insects do not have some such a system, though it is different from ours in many ways. Insects have simple tubes in the upper part of their bodies which serve them as hearts. The rear parts of these tubes contract or pulsate, forcing the yellowish insect blood out through the head end, from which it circulates through the body. It bathes the tissues and returns to the heart tube through a set of side holes. This blood has little to do with carrying oxygen around the way our blood does. In insect bodies, air comes in through outer openings or spiracles. Oxygen from this is distributed through tiny tubes called trachae. You will have to imagine this little network of tiny branching tubes, as there was no room for them in our drawings. The insects' circulation is much simpler than our own, but then, their bodies are a great deal smaller.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, April 25, the 115th day of 1969. There are 250 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, delegates of 46 nations met in San Francisco to organize the United Nations.

In 1816, the English poet, Lord Byron, left England as a social outcast and was never to return.

In 1898, the United States declared war on Spain.

In 1901, New York became the first state to require auto licenses.

In 1917, China entered World War I against Germany.

In 1945, Benito Mussolini and his mistress escaped from Milan as Allied soldiers converged on the Italian city during World War II.

Also in 1945, U.S. and Soviet troops celebrated together when advance units linked up on a demolished bridge over the Elbe River at Torgau, Germany.

Ten years ago — The St. Lawrence Seaway was opened to shipping.

Five years ago — President Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria received an enthusiastic welcome on his first visit to Moscow.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Grandpa Saves The Day

DEAR HELOISE: When you have a small child visit your home and your dining room chairs are too short for him to get op to the table, here's all you have to do.

Heloise

Tuck your phone book or any other book inside of a pillowcase and wrap the pillowcase around all of the books. Set this in the chair. The pillowcase will keep the books from sliding apart and the child cannot fall.

We have stacked different sizes of books up on our breakfast room chairs for our grandkids and eventually, because they wiggle so, one slides off the other and the child tumbles to the floor. By piling the books inside of the pillowcase, at least they cannot slide.

Be sure and tuck the case under tightly. After all, most of us grandmas and grandpas on retirement pay cannot afford extra high chairs, can we?

Oh, Grandpa, do we love you! That's going to save a lot of people on retirement pay from buying a high chair. Besides, this little highchair trick you have taught us can be lowered or raised to fit the size of the visitor.

May the Lord bless you, sir.

HELOISE.

A Monday morning's drear and bleak—
A grim and mournful blues day;
I move we vote to start the week
At half past ten on Tuesday.

MRS. F. C.

DEAR HELOISE: When that old zipper gets hung on the material, fold the pinched cloth back as far as you can and pin it with a straight pin as close as possible to the place where it is caught.

Then you can pull the zipper whichever way is needed to loosen the material.

By using the pin, instead of trying to hold the caught material with your fingers, you can use two hands to get that old zipper going again.

It works everytime for me!

MRS. N.

DEAR HELOISE: I found a little trick that I would like to pass on to other homemakers.

When the chrome tops on salt shakers get corroded from dampness, just put a light coat of paraffin on the inside of the little tops. Then when slightly hard, take a round toothpick and push the wax through to the outside.

Presto, you have no more trouble with salt sticking to the inside of the tops of your salt shakers.

BLONDIE.

DEAR HELOISE: Have you informal get-togethers, let each one bring his or her TV Dinner or prepared oven dinner.

So simple this way and ALL the load is not on any one person, and lends for more frequent companionship at mealtime.

K. CARROLL.

DEAR HELOIS: Have you ever tried adding about a quarter-cup of bottled lemon juice to the water when you boil shrimp.

It seems to eliminate the odor.

I have even used a piece of lemon peel in the water and it works just as well.

ANN C. COLLINS.

DEAR HELOISE: When preparing our ice bucket for long evenings, I pour an inch of water in the bucket and freeze.

Sure helps to make the ice last longer.

In reverse, to use as a warmer, pour in hot water 'til entire bucket is warmed.

MRS. C. GOODALL.

Hays Joins Plan For Nationwide Emergency Call

WASHINGTON — Rep. Wayne L. Hays, Democrat from Flushing, Ohio, is among 50 members of the House backing legislation providing federal assistance to help states and local governments across the nation establish a nationwide uniform emergency telephone number.

The bill, drawn as an amendment to the Omnibus Crime Bill of 1968, provides matching grants to state agencies or municipal subdivisions to equip and maintain emergency communication centers utilizing the number "911."

Hays said that if the legislation is adopted, the most important advantage to the public would be that an individual who needs police, fire, ambulance or any other emergency service would not have to look up a number regardless of where he was, but could simply dial "911" and a communications center would dispatch to him from the nearest location the emergency service needed.

He said he has been advised that pay telephone booths also can be designed to provide for "911" service without a coin being deposited.

Hays pointd out the uniform emergency telephone number would not replace any number now being used by any emergency service in the nation, but would be in addition to that service which now exists.

A letter was read by Mrs. Schubert from State Sen. Douglas Applegate relative to a request for a flasher light and other improvements to assist buses which must make a left turn from the No. 16 School road onto Route 39.
